Beaver Lake

Million Dollar Centre Planned

By JACK FREY

Plans for development of a $1,000,000 hotel, recreation and convention centre on a 67½-acre parcel south of Beaver Lake were outlined yesterday by city lawyer Foster Isherwood.

A public hearing on Mr. Isherwood's application for rezoning of the property will be held at the Saanich municipal hall at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

ON HIGHWAY

The land is adjacent to the southern boundary of city-owned Beaver Lake property, and has 1,700 feet of frontage on the Patricia Bay Highway.

Representative of a large American hotel group will visit Victoria early next year to consider the possibility of building a 100-to-600-room hotel with large convention hall, said the lawyer.

LARGEST CENTRE

Development of the rolling farm land into the area's largest tourist and convention centre, through dealings with American promoters, will be backed by Foster Isherwood, his brothers Joseph, George and John, and the Isherwood estate.

It will not be the family's first venture into the hotel business. The late Thomas Isherwood, father of the four brothers, along with an uncle of theirs, converted the old Hilsen-Bone office building into the Churchill Hotel, 1140 Government, in 1940.

DEVELOPED IN DEPTH

"We bought the property, keeping in mind that it can be developed in depth... maybe along the line of a Harrison Hot Springs close to town, with a good view of the Olympics and room enough for horseback riding on bridle paths," said Mr. Isherwood.

The brothers filed their application early this year for rezoning of a small portion of the parcel from agricultural to tourist and recreational use, but later indicated a willingness to rezone the whole parcel, in accordance with a recommendation of the Saanich advisory planning committee.

The Real Antarctica

Master Key To History Of World

By RON POULTON

Third of a Series

McMURDO STATION, Antarctica—One early explorer called this continent: "centuries of heaped up solitude."

To anyone who has seen it, it comes as no surprise that Scott was forced to ask, as he crossed the Beardmore Glacier:

"Could anything be more terrible than this silent, wind-swept immensity?"

4,000 Men

Explorers have dared it for 75 years. And this year the United States—one of seven countries in occupation—is assaulting it with 4,000 men, three dozen aircraft, eight ice breakers and a fleet of supply ships.

Man cannot leave it alone because this continent is at once the most intriguing, the most mysterious and, in some ways, the most beautiful on earth.

Once it seemed as inaccessible as the moon. Parts still are because its snows

Fog Won't Budge

Grey Cup weather, which fogged out all but one commercial airline flight to and from Victoria in the past two days, threatens to continue at least until this afternoon.

Meanwhile, the Lower Mainland remained buried in fog for the fourth straight day Tuesday but there was a glimmer of hope it will be gone tonight.

40-Inch Avalanche

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Juneau remained semi-paralyzed Tuesday after one of the heaviest snows on record—40 inches—while Ketchikan, 250 miles away, suffered additional damage from torrential rains.

Delayed-Action Gift

B.C. SERVANTS TO GET RAISE

By TERRY HAMMOND

Premier Bennett yesterday announced a delayed-action Christmas present for B.C.'s 14,000 civil servants—higher pay.

The long-expected announcement came at a government luncheon held at the Empress Hotel in honor of 30 provincial employees with 25 years of service. (See Page 2.)

He told his suddenly-attentive audience, "It is not possible for the government at all times to properly recognize civil servants as far as monetary matters are concerned because we only deal with tax funds."

"But last year we made some changes and some increases."

"ONLY FAIR"
"It is only fair to say that in the next budget (Feb. 8) there will be some increases as well."

The premier later declined to tell reporters how much the increase will be, but said "it will be general and over-and-above the usual annual increments."

REQUEST
Announcement of the increase came in the face of the B.C. Government Employees' Association request for 10 to 24 per cent raises and a civil service appeal board's recommendation that government match salaries with industry.

The premier's statement affecting provincial civil servants came a day after Ottawa's announcement that $500 federal employees will also get raises.

STEP ADDED
Last general increase for provincial workers came in 1959 and earlier this year all full-time employees got three to five per cent raises.

The salaried group had a step added to the increment range but all except senior employees had to wait from one to six years to collect it.

Federal Boost

In January

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal civil servants granted retroactive pay increases won't receive cheques in time to cash them for Christmas.

W. G. Drew, chief treasury officer at the central pay office, said Tuesday it will not be possible to give government employees their retroactive pay until the end of January.

New Sticks At Gordon

MONTREAL (CP)—More than 700 students demonstrated in downtown Montreal late Tuesday protesting testimony by CNR president Donald Gordon to the Commons Railway Committee, while a delegation of students met Mr. Gordon for an hour and 15 minutes. (See Page 7.)

Police arrested at least three demonstrators as they tossed overshoes, snow and sticks at some 50 constables guarding the front entrance of the Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

Mr. Gordon said he had explained to the delegation the CNR system of recruiting and promotion of its officers.

British Mop Up

Brunei Uprising Falling Apart

CP from AP Reuters

LABUAN, Brunei—The commander of British land forces in the Far East said today the North Borneo revolt is collapsing before co-ordinated British attacks on the insurgents in Sarawak and Brunei.

Gen. Sir Nigel Poett said British troops took Lawas and Limbang, in Sarawak, today and Kuala Belait, in Brunei. These were centres of rebel strength in the revolt.

"The revolt is collapsing," said Poett. "We are confident that the order will soon be maintained."

He said that in the fighting for Limbang, about 40 miles south of this North Borneo island, both sides suffered casualties. He gave no figures.

He said there was no fighting at Lawas, near Limbang. British troops are reported to have cleared most of Sarawak, the major oil centre 75 miles southwest of Labuan, but rebel use of nine Portuguese as hostages slowed the British drive for full control.

The troops freed some 400 other Europeans who took refuge in their homes when the rebellion began five days ago.

Revolt Ended In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—Argentine leaders said Tuesday night a day-long air force revolt had been resolved and the situation in the country was "entirely normal."

Their statements followed a day of confusion in which at one time three men were reported claiming to be commander-in-chief of the air force.

Air Secretary Juan Carlos Pereyra said he intended to fly to Cordoba—"seat of revolution"—where Brig. Cayo Alsinza set up a rebel air command after being dismissed from his post as air force chief.

Unconfirmed reports said the two officers apparently were in contact with officers of other branches of the armed forces and nationalist civilians who wished to impose a dictatorship.

Victoria's Share Of CPR Service Keeps Shrinking

Further staff withdrawals of the CPR's B.C. Coast Service from Victoria will take place in January—another step in the eroding of this city's status as headquarters of a once-huge fleet.

The war saw the end of the White Empresses, and the post-war rebuilding of the Victoria-Vancouver-Seattle triangle run was not destined to be a success.

ALL-TIME LOW

With the once-bustling Nanaimo-Vancouver link down to a few runs by the Princess of Vancouver, Island operations are at an all-time low.

Major summer runs now are the prestigious Alaska run and Victoria-Seattle. However, with no World's Fair next year, the U.S. run won't utilize more than one ship for about three months.

Mine Fire Isolated

BRITANNIA BEACH (CP)—Work crews started isolating a fire 4,500 feet below ground at a copper mine in this community.

Officials of the Howe Sound Company evacuated 100 miners from the mine Monday after several men became sick from smoke and carbon monoxide.

Formosa Propaganda Blamed

EDMONTON (CP)—Agriculture Minister Hamilton says a propaganda attack, originating on the island of Formosa, is being waged against the Canadian government for selling wheat to Communist China.

Mr. Hamilton told the Farmers Union of Alberta convention Monday that the anti-wheat sale propaganda meets him everywhere he goes. In Ottawa, the embassy of Nationalist China Tuesday denied Mr. Hamilton's charge.

Mr. Hamilton made the comment after he was asked why Canada sells wheat to the Communists while people are starving in India and South America.

Helpers of All Kinds Meet Christmas Need

Penny drives, piggy banks, employees' funds and "Secret Helpers" have all gotten behind The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund drive.

At Victoria High, girl students accepted a challenge from the boys, then defeated them, hardly in a 19-day penny drive that saw lines of money winding through the halls.

A total of $124 in pennies was laid out side by side on strips of tape, different colors showing that the girls were usually ahead.

Their two-to-one victory made the score in 500 Fund penny drives even.

Earlier, at Victoria University, the co-eds lost and became "slaves" to male students for one day.

These letters came in the mail yesterday:

• "This money is from the piggy banks of Karen, Bruce, Wendy and Irving... with love to anyone who needs it."

• "This cheque is donated by a group of little girls who call themselves 'The Secret Helpers' Society. Could you please enter their donation in that name?"

• "Although the (Victoria Machinery Depot) employees were fortunate in being the first contributors to the 1962

Donations to the 500 Fund may be brought or mailed to The Daily Colonist at 581 Douglas or left at Reception of Victoria, 440 Yates, during business hours. Donors should specify if they wish to be anonymous. Receipts for income tax purposes will be supplied or returned.

Colonist 500 Fund, they wish to add a further donation of $100, for which a cheque is enclosed.

"They asked me to extend to the Colonist and the administrators of the fund their sincere good wishes for the success of this very worthwhile operation."

Christmas is now just a few days away.

Just before it arrives, all the money collected by the 500 Fund will be divided into 500 equal cheques.

A cheque will go to each of 500 Victoria households that can best use something "extra" to make the holiday slightly happier.

The very fine people who write and donate to the fund have not forgotten what this "extra" will mean to those unfortunate families.

Adenauer Forms New Coalition

BONN (UPI) — Chancellor Adenauer yesterday formed a new coalition cabinet with the Free Democrats, ending West Germany's seven-week-old government crisis — the worst in Adenauer's 13 years in office. The new cabinet includes Konrad von Hassel, 49, the premier of Schleswig-Holstein, as defence minister replacing Franz-Josef Strauss.

The agreement was announced after Adenauer conferred with Erich Mende, leader of the Free Democrats. Once again the Free Democrats will have five cabinet posts and the Christian Democrats and their Bavarian wing, the Christian Social Union, 18.

The crisis began when the Free Democrats walked out of the government in protest against Strauss' action in having the editors of Der Spiegel arrested on treason charges without informing the Free Democrat minister of justice. Adenauer had to pay a stiff price to win back Free Democrat support. He was forced to name September as the final date for his retirement and to give reluctant approval to recognition of Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard as his probable successor. He also had to give up Strauss, once his political heir.

The Hassel appointment was reported pleasing to the two parties and especially to the military.

Adenauer brought in seven new men. The youngest was Rainer Barzel, 33, who replaced Ernst Lemmer as all-German affairs minister.

At Adenauer's insistence, two Free Democrats were dropped, Justice Minister Stammberger and Finance Minister Starke. They were replaced by Free Democrats

Ewald Bucher, 48, in the justice post, and Rolf Dahlgren, 54. The other new men were Bruno Heck, 45, CDU, family affairs minister; Alois Niederreith, 51, cabinet minister, and Werner Dollinger, 44, head of the treasury.

The key men in the cabinet kept their jobs—Erhard and Foreign Minister Schröder.

Reds Catch 3,000 Per Month at Wall

BERLIN (UPI) — Tight Communist border controls have caught thousands of East Germans who have attempted to flee to the West, a refugee border guard reported Tuesday.

He told Western officials only 10 per cent of those who try to escape get through. As about 300 refugees escape in a month his statement meant about 3,000 a month are caught.

West Berlin authorities have recorded 41 known deaths since the wall went up Aug. 13, 1961. But the number shot is believed to be much higher. Almost every night shooting is heard along the 23-mile Berlin border and the 17-mile border where West Berlin fronts on East Germany.

CHARLOTTETOWN — By his own account, his election victory Monday brought Premier Walter B. Shaw his first kiss in 14 years. When the returns changed from bad to good and better, he said, "my wife jumped up and kissed me for the first time in 14 years. It was quite a shock."

VANCOUVER — John Slavinkoff, sentenced to 18 months jail on a charge of obstructing justice by attempting to get two Sons of Freedom Doukhobors to give false evidence, won an appeal against the sentence. The conviction was quashed.

Missile Withdrawal Causes Tension For Britain, U.S.

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. was reported last night to have proposed cancellation of the Anglo-American Skybolt missile project despite British warnings this would mean an "agonizing reappraisal" of the Anglo-American alliance.

British sources said Britain's representative in talks with U.S. Defence Secretary Robert McNamara flatly warned the reappraisal could adversely affect U.S. bomber and nuclear submarine bases in Britain.

DEPENDENT ON MISSILE Britain's nuclear deterrent is dependent on completion of the airborne sky-to-earth missile designed to be fired by British jet bombers at targets 1,000 miles away. The missiles were to have been equipped with British nuclear warheads.

The conversations between McNamara and British Defence Minister Thorneycroft were reported to have been the toughest between the two allies since the days when the U.S. criticized the Anglo-French Suez invasion in the UN.

The Exchange Telegraph news agency said: "It is felt Mr. McNamara's attitude is more negative than positive and, if this policy persists, Anglo-American relations are definitely heading for the end."

ROBERT McNAMARA ... negative attitude

PARIS (UPI) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk began an intensive drive Tuesday to restore the shaken unity of NATO. Almost at once he ran headlong into an uncompromising demand by President Charles de Gaulle for an independent French nuclear force.

Rusk will head the American delegation at a three-day session of the NATO council Thursday, Friday and Saturday. In an airport statement he appealed to other NATO members to sink their differences and bolster the strength of the alliance. In a message to the French national assembly later, de Gaulle said it was "inconceivable" that France should not have its own nuclear striking force, something the U.S. has opposed. De Gaulle also declared that "at the moment" NATO is indispensable for the defence of the free world. The statement appeared to indicate that de Gaulle considers NATO only a temporary institution.

Chinese Protest

New Attacks Feared on India

NEW DELHI (AP) — Red China's charge that Indian planes made "provocative" flights over the Himalayas front raised apprehension here Tuesday that the Communists are planning new attacks—possibly supported by fighters and bombers.

Peking called the alleged incidents "extremely grave." A spokesman for Prime Minister Nehru's government denied the Peking charge of nine Indian violations of Tibetan airspace and declared: "It appears that these allegations are being fabricated by the Chinese as part of a malicious campaign for their own purposes." Nehru told parliamentary members of his ruling Congress Party the Chinese might be awaiting the outcome of the Colombo conference on the Sino-Indian border dispute before deciding on their next move.

Both Nehru and the Chinese have been trying to enlist support of the six non-aligned nations meeting in Ceylon. But reports from Colombo said delegates there have shown a wariness about stepping on the toes of either Peking or New Delhi and appear stymied about what stand to take in the undeclared war between the two Asian giants. Nehru made plain in his speech to the legislators—delivered behind closed doors Monday and disclosed Tuesday—that the next move was up to Peking after his rejection of Chinese terms for settling the boundary dispute.

Oil Cut Likely

WASHINGTON (CP) — A U.S. demand that Canada reduce the flow of oil into the central and eastern United States likely will be voiced when officials of the two countries meet at Ottawa to discuss President Kennedy's new oil policy.

A qualified U.S. source said Canada will be asked to hold shipments to American refineries east of the Rocky Mountains to a slim increase of about three per cent in the first half of 1963 over the amount shipped in the first half of 1962. The informant suggested that if Canadian shippers refused to comply, the U.S. government may be forced to consider withdrawing Canada's exemption from U.S. mandatory import controls.

Reds Threaten Renewed Tests

GENEVA (UPI) — Russia yesterday warned of new nuclear tests unless the U.S. and Britain stop testing by the end of the year regardless of whether a ban agreement had been reached by then. Western observers viewed the warning as propaganda designed to pin the blame on the U.S. if Russia resumes tests. Reliable reports indicate the Russians plan to announce a unilateral moratorium on nuclear tests after Jan. 1, no matter what happens at the three-nation talks.

OTHERS TO ACT Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin told American and British delegates to the nuclear test ban subcommittee of the 17-nation disarmament conference that if the West continues nuclear testing beyond the end of this year "other nuclear powers will take corresponding action."

All Directions

IN ITS APPROACH to the European Common Market, the Macmillan government seems bent on following the same convolutions as Stephen Leacock's hero who flung himself upon his horse and rode madly off in all directions.

In the E.C.M.'s formative years of 1956 and 1957, Mr. Macmillan and his cohorts firmly decided that the organization would not be a good thing for Britain and bluntly rejected all invitations to join. In 1959, still holding to this view, the Macmillan government sponsored a rival trade community made up of Britain, Austria, Denmark, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, and Switzerland, known as the European Free Trade Association.

By 1960 the Macmillan government began to have second thoughts about E.C.M., and before the end of that year had completely reversed its earlier thinking on the subject. By 1961 it became obvious that Mr. Macmillan was determined to take Britain into the European union at any cost.

Instead of the E.C.M. being looked upon as a bad thing for Britain it suddenly became, in the eyes of the Macmillan government, a good thing and the only solution for all Britain's economic problems. The prime minister and his colleagues were quick to express their new views. "Britain," they said, "cannot exist if it does not become a partner in the European Common Market."

This sudden about-face not only confused the British public but wrought havoc among Britain's Commonwealth partners, many of whom protested loud and long the abrupt change in policy, the objections of the latter motivated by fear of the consequences of the removal of Commonwealth trade preference arrangements.

But in 1962 even this uproar died down to little more than a dissatisfied murmur partly due to the dominions' sympathetic understanding of the mother country's difficult economic position as explained by the Macmillan government, and partly because the British E.C.M. negotiating team pledged that it would do its best to protect Commonwealth trade.

After all, what Commonwealth country would allow its selfish trade interests to block Britain's entry into the E.C.M. if it were the only way she could avoid complete economic collapse?

Yet once again the Macmillan government is changing its direction. On Monday, no less a person than the chancellor of the exchequer, Mr. Reginald Maudling, publicly expressed his opinion that it would not be a disaster if Britain failed to enter the E.C.M. Here is what he said:

"We want to join the six and hope very much to do so, but on the other hand we have all said from time to time that it is not a question of disaster if we don't."

"We have the whole of the rest of the world to make our living in."

"There is no doubt that inside the community is a far better place than outside, but outside the community Britain would not be going down hill."

Thus does the Macmillan government continue its mad ride in all directions. Is it any wonder that the Commonwealth partners and the British public are confused?

Kettle and Pot

IF AS IT HAS been berated by Liberal critics the I. Diefenbaker government has been in two minds about the acquisition of nuclear arms so patently is the Liberal party itself.

Fence-sitting, as it is termed, can be a two-way proposition.

The Liberals made great play with their claim of a seeming cabinet split on defence because as foreign secretary Mr. Green pursued the theme of disarmament while the defence minister, Mr. Harkness, stressed the need to bolster military strength. There is no contradiction in this, it is common to all nations taking part in disarmament talks, but for political purposes the Liberals sought to imply a lack of cabinet unity on the subject.

The same lack of unity among Liberal leaders has been disclosed.

Mr. Paul Hellyer, the chief defence critic of his party and the man entrusted in the Liberal "shadow cabinet" with responsibility for military matters, has openly proclaimed that Canada should sign an atomic arms agreement with the U.S. covering home defence as well as the NATO sphere in Europe.

This runs counter to the cagey attitude of his chief, Mr. Pearson, who has preferred to indict the Diefenbaker government for not deciding the nuclear arms issue while refusing to cite his party's own stand on the subject.

Seeking still to play it both ways Mr. Pearson says Mr. Hellyer was voicing his own opinion and not that of his party, but this is a declaration that does not wash very well. If Mr. Hellyer as a private individual favors nuclear arms obviously this would be his policy if as expected he became defence minister in a Pearson government.

If in such circumstances he subdued his views he would be a poor defence minister, carrying out policies in which he did not believe.

As Mr. Hellyer has made clear, when Mr. Pearson charges the government with having two minds on the matter it is a case of the kettle calling the pot black.

Hansard Titbits

Alibi Earmarks

MR. BYRNE: Well, Mr. Speaker, might I ask the Secretary of State for External Affairs, is he interfering in the negotiations that are taking place between the premier of British Columbia and the United States authorities with respect to the Columbia River treaty?

MR. GREEN: Mr. Speaker, during the summer Premier Bennett requested that we arrange for informal discussions at a high official level between Canada, the United States and the province of British Columbia concerning the proposals for the development of the Columbia River. It was understood that these talks would be without commitment by any one of the three parties. Two such talks have been held and there is another scheduled for mid-December. They have been held in the best of good faith and on a constructive basis, and there can be no suggestion whatsoever that we have been undermining British Columbia.

If the reports in this morning's Globe and Mail are accurate then I can only say the charges are completely untrue and have all the earmarks of being an alibi.

MR. SPEAKER: Order. We will get into an argument.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax..."

By TOM TAYLOR

WE live in a great age. Everything so functional and efficient.

Take the self-help system in stores, for example, wherein shelves and stacks are meticulously labeled with a bewildering variety of goods.

In compliment to the sleuthing eye of the customer, no doubt.

The latter enters in search of something. He doesn't know where to find it. So he moans disconsolately up and down the aisles hoping that by some alchemy he'll discover what he's after.

There is seldom a clerk to help him, offer advice or point things out, and any that come under his gaze seem as magisterially busy he's almost afraid to accost them.

Or else, perhaps, they themselves don't know where to find the item he wants.

A great system, smooth, but to a despairing customer it looks as a marvel of organized inefficiency.

MENTION of Bunter, Sexton Blake and Get-There Gunter, et al., has invoked memories for a Cloverdale reader who also revealed in the "penny dreadful" heroes of his youth.

He writes to add Captain Kelly, Joe Jim and Jeremy; and a few others to the names cited herein last week. He recalls them all with relish and thinks them better than "some of the trash" served up on TV.

They landed him in trouble sometimes, nevertheless. At school for instance, where he got many a smack for reading about them instead of studying. And his mother "gave me back" when she caught him pouring over his beloved "penny dreadfuls."

Until, at least, he in turn caught her reading one with evident enjoyment!

THE news wires tell of an East German major who defected to West Berlin by rowing himself, wife and daughter in a fog to the American sector bank.

They followed in the wake of several millions of East Germans who have crossed over to the haven of West Germany since the last war ended.

They are unlike other defectors of the cold war. They are still among their kindred, and may look forward with assurance to their future.

For the others, those who give up their own country to serve or join its enemies, whether from East to West or West to East, there must come a day of great regret. Perhaps remorse.

Ideologies apart, they have defected; but their native lands don't. They can never be sure of full acceptance, even by those who wish to welcome them. And it must be strange if they ever feel really at home in their new menage.

IT has been with us now for a year and more but the street abbreviations in the telephone book never fail to intrigue me.

This is another example of the modern efficiency that afflicts us.

I was looking up a number an hour ago and I found the address to be on "Tatral." I presume this to be meant for "Tattersall," but only because I live here.

What a stranger to do, or think when he runs up against names like "Eaglet," "Hibb," "Slugg" and their ilk. Guess widely?

The queer thing is that often there's room in the line to spell out the whole word, and add "street" or "road" into the bargain.

Ah well, maybe it's meant to spur our imagination. But I confess it baffles me, especially when addressing Christmas cards.

Fanatics' Intervention

By MARQUE CHILDS

ON the great central plain of Poland winter and the long darkness settled down. The first snows have fallen and the sound of the bells on the sledges can be heard across the flat country in which the onion-domed spire of the village church is visible from far off.

The farmers are hardly peasants who for generations have endured the cycles of war, conquest and revolution that have swept over Poland. They have a deeply rooted independence which has enabled them to survive. From the start of the Communist regime after 1945 they set themselves in stubborn resistance to collectivization of the land.

This resistance had a lot to do with the changes introduced by Wladyslaw Gomulka when he made it plain to Moscow that as premier he could not impose the rigidities of the Soviet system. Collectivization was stopped "for now" in fact, reversed. Eighty-six per cent of the land is in private hands, 11 to 12 per cent in state farms comprised of lands acquired in the war and only one to two per cent in collective farms.

But today these peasant farmers, at least 90 per cent of whom are Roman Catholics, have become pawns in the cold war. Their margin of comparative prosperity and independence is threatened. That margin, and it is one of the sources of the relative independence that Poland has been able to maintain in the Communist bloc, is based on the export to the United States of fine Polish ham. This amounts to about $40,000,000 a year and while that is a mere drop in the American trade bucket, it helps Poland to pay American war damages and to import certain essentials.

Fanatic right-wingers in this country have set out by various techniques to stop the sale of Polish ham and all other consumer products coming from Communist bloc countries. As developed by Dr. Jerome D. Harold, a chiropractor in Miami, an appeal is first made to merchants and the big chains to stop selling items such as canned Polish hams noted on store shelves. If this does not work, then the groups around the country

Two of the most complicated translations are being directed in Kenya by Miss E. M. Brown of the Church Missionary Society, and Miss Lee Appleby of Australia. Both of them are constructing practically new languages out of 17 different dialects. "Miss Appleby is building up a common language for the tribes northeast of Lake Victoria and plans to make a Bible out of it. Miss Brown's language is for the Acholi and Lango peoples, and she has done a trial translation of St. Mark's Gospel, and is now started on Genesis and Exodus.

The success of women as translators, in Mr. Moulton's opinion, is due to their patience in working with Africans and Asians, and their attention to minute detail. During the recent translation work never stopped. Two sisters, Miss Rosemary and Miss Philippa Gullbeard, daughters of Dr. C. W. Gullbeard of Cambridge, are translating in Ruanda and Sudan, and the latter translation is urgent in view of the threat of the Sudan government to expel all missionaries.

As well as Britain, the women translators come from the U.S., Canada, Norway and Denmark, and are working in Vietnam, New Guinea, Brazil, Burma, India and Pakistan. Last year the various Bible Societies of the world distributed nearly 40 million Bibles, Testaments and selected portions.

World literacy the demand is every year.

peach Chief Justice Earl Warren.

They have had more success with the first goal than with the second. Major importers report a marked drop in retail sales. A number of chains have not only canceled orders for hams and other Communist bloc products, including Christmas decorations, but they have taken merchandise off their shelves and returned it. This says something about the independence of even a powerful chain to run its own business. As some of the retailers have said, "if they can tell us what to sell and what not to sell, then next day they can tell us who to hire and who not to hire."

But it says much more about the effort of the government to direct foreign policy when some aspect of that policy is disapproved by a highly organized minority. Both the Eisenhower and the Kennedy administrations have believed that it was to the advantage of the West to take what opportunities arose to try to help Poland sustain at least a degree of independence.

This policy has been based on the conviction that only through a gradual easing of tensions will the bonds be loosened.

Each notch that the cold war is screwed up means it is that much less likely that peoples enduring the yoke of Communism will eventually be able to be free. The effort of these minorities—the leadership of the international longshoremen has been dictating what ships shall and shall not be loaded in East Coast ports—is therefore viewed with dismay by the state department.

The fanatical right-wingers do not hesitate, of course, to convict the department of a giant conspiracy to flood the country with Communist-made goods, thereby depriving Americans of jobs. As part of this conspiracy they see the efforts of the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations to give Yugoslavia favored-nation status under the trade program. Yugoslavia did demonstrate that even in the era of Stalin it was possible to break away.

The conduct of foreign policy in a democracy is difficult under the best of circumstances. With the intervention of minorities, each with an axe to grind, one word sums up the dilemma: chaos.

New Version

By GREGORY CLARK

IT is strange the thoughts that weave, like mist, through one's head during funeral services. After you pass a certain age, funerals become so familiar that, despite your best intentions, your mind is inclined to wander during the well-worn passages of the funeral service that are being read by the clergyman.

At a recent ceremony, the Bible from which the passages were being read was the new version fairly widely accepted in most denominations. And there are just enough changes in the noble old phrases and sentences to irritate elders like wander.

In some indignation, I tried to visualize the sort of self-

One of the Finest

Happing It Up

By CASSANDRA from London

WHILE I have been absent, Mr. Nehru has been fanning the flames under the pot in which he is stewing; some men have been playing cricket in Australia; the price of jellied eels has been increased by sixpence; Princess Alexandra has become engaged to a Scotsman who is down to his last fifty directorships; the Pope has been indisposed, and Mr. Walter Bates, an 81-year-old Father Christmas in a Nottingham store, has been fired for giving away toys.

None of these events occurred with my permission or consent.

I was not consulted. Fortunately, I have had more important business on hand.

I have been designing planning, constructing and maintaining a bonfire.

It has now been burning for eight days and has been pronounced by an eminent bonfireologist a "truly one of the finest specimens seen in the Home Counties since they made a bonfire in South London in 1936 that included among its ingredients the Crystal Palace."

I inherited my talent—some would say genius—for bonfires from my father, who said that life without a bonfire wasn't really living at all.

He would get up in the night to attend an important bonfire. In his own words he "happied it up" and that meant applying more weeds, clods to the great steaming mound with a heart of three or four hundredweight of red-hot ashes.

When the bonfire was properly established, which was usually within about forty-eight hours, he loved it to rain, remarking: "That bonfire is laughing at the rain. Doubt whether any fire brigade could put it out."

His final seal of approval of his own handiwork was to observe with a mysterious smile: "Maybe I'll have some hedgehogs in it. Do 'em in, clay 'em, finest dish you ever set your teeth into. Never missed it when I was younger."

There are no hedgehogs in my bonfire.

But there are—or rather there were—about half a ton of rotten apple tree; enough hedge-clippings to obscure the forest of Duninane; more leaves than the Babes in the Wood ever saw; a mound of those horrible cardboard cases that nobody can ever get rid of; a cartload of weeds unfit for compost; four rows of frost-bitten eichrya, a quantity of straw, sticks, old magazines, two pairs of useless shoes, a broken picture frame and a nice trimming of the dead stalks and leaves of a failed runner-bean crop.

Its plume of smoke and steam, strongly reminiscent of the wisps of smoke and steam that garlanded Vesuvius after the great eruption of 1944, rises vertically into the cold winter air. The Red Indians in the Children's Hills are said to be reading smoke-signal messages from it.

I shall probably throw my bonfire open to the public with a small admission fee to go to charity.

A FANFARE of trumpets—silver of course—for John Valsey, who is the director of the economic research unit at London University's Institute of Education.

He has been making a stirring plea for boys of all classes to be able to enjoy "the good and jolly" things of life.

In doing so, he has given Gordonstoun School, where Prince Charles now is and Prince Andrew might go, a well-deserved kicking off.

This extreme fortress of privilege and puritanism was founded by Dr. Kurt Hahn.

Judging by Dr. Hahn's educational system, he seems to have inherited his principles from the harsh, spartan German method of the last century that, among other manifestations of Teutonic adolescent life, resulted in students duelling with sabres and doing amateur facial surgery on each other, to prove their virility.

Experts say that much of our tension is traceable to modern noises. But who needs an expert to tell us that? We are deluged with the rumble of trucks, the roar of broken mufflers, the scream of brakes, the clatter of loud speakers in places of public accommodation, the chattering euphemistically called music.

Add the bombulations of crickets about and abetted by the electronics industry.

One psychologist claims that modern man makes more noise even in his sleep than the sleepers of the past. It's his way of getting back at the clangor of twentieth century living. His snoring is subconscious revenge against the din of the day.

Silence is undoubtedly one of the world's rare commodities today. And to think that a society dedicated to its preservation should be started by a noisy man.

My Mr. Priest be twice blessed.

The boys of Gordonstoun School, sited in suitably bleak Morayshire in the North of Scotland, are taught the virtues of physical hardship. They are brought up to respect the inane rigors of cold showers and the importance of doing things in extreme discomfort—mountaineering in the winter and sailing in the rain—and all that muscular jazz.

Says Mr. Valsey, surveying this elegant Royal intellectual institution:

"Let us rescue Prince Andrew and throw to him the key to the Tate Gallery—assuming the pictures have not been pinched by them."

He went on to criticize "the Boy-Scoutism of The Duke of Edinburgh's Award."

Note for newcomers: The Royal Award was recently won by a jolly good chap who had walked three miles at six miles an hour, turned in a fast time for the quarter-mile and did well in the long jump and high jump. He has also completed a thirty-mile moorland hike carrying a tent and a rucksack.

No count was made of the mental callous on the hard-core lad's mind.

Mr. Valsey will rightly have none of these half-baked qualifications for grown-up life.

"Why not get an Award," he asks, "for going to see modern Italian painting at the Venice Biennale, rather than walking up Snowdon in bare feet or whatever it is you have to do to get a gold medal...."

"There is a romantic fallacy that places like Gordonstoun produce people who are somehow more real than others. My point of reference is that there are things in life as important as toughness."

When the present headmaster of Gordonstoun, possibly fresh from a picnic in the snow in the Cairngorms, heard of these comments he remarked tartly:

"The gentleman is quite entitled to his views. He can let boys roam in the Tate Gallery to their heart's content if he wishes."

Having delivered himself of this salvo he presumably went back to the gymnasium for a cleaning session with the Indian Club.

I don't wonder that one of the Duke of Bedford's sensitive sons ran away twice from this institution.

As in these expensive reformatories where the problems of quickening sex are unsuccessfully eliminated on the rugged pitch and in a miserable tent above the snowline, so with hundreds of thousands of other kids in our smaller schools.

They suffer under too few teachers, who are underpaid, and learn the wrong things about the days to come.

They do not know of the entrancing prospect of words, of love, of painting, of music and of compassion.

But what really angers me—and what apparently angers Mr. Valsey—is that the bright, humane and truly wonderful future of life for the young should be withheld from our children by people who do not understand—and never will.

A Fine Idea

Silent Haven

From The Telegram, Toronto

MANY barbers operate on the principle that a man comes into the shop not only to get a haircut but a monologue on the weather and the latest international crisis.

But not Marvin Priest. He has founded the Scarborough Technical Institute of Silence. He makes a point of avoiding a running conversation with customers in his barber shop.

Bliss him. Mr. Priest thinks there is altogether too much noise in this age. Mr. Priest is an understanding fellow.

Experts say that much of our tension is traceable to modern noises. But who needs an expert to tell us that? We are deluged with the rumble of trucks, the roar of broken mufflers, the scream of brakes, the clatter of loud speakers in places of public accommodation, the chattering euphemistically called music.

'Unholy' Labor Tie Blasted by Peterson

The greatest problem on the labor front today is the "unholy wedlock" between the NDP and labor, Labor Minister Leslie Peterson said in a Vancouver Point Grey byelection speech last night.

Strachan Hurls Challenge

VANCOUVER (CP)—If Vancouver Chamber of Commerce president Ralph Baker or his chamber want a fight with the New Democratic Party, "let them have guns enough to say so," Opposition leader Strachan said yesterday.

He was commenting on a recent statement by Mr. Baker that warfare between two political parties is the cause of labor unrest in B.C. He named no parties.

Mr. Strachan denied the NDP is causing labor unrest. He has called for co-operation between labor, management and government to determine B.C. social and economic problems and solutions.

He said too many labor leaders are abandoning the welfare of the members they represent to go politicking. He termed it "a sad day when labor and politics mixed," and went on to charge B.C. IWA president Jack Moore with offering "spurious reasons" for evading a "heart-to-heart" talk with Premier Bennett. Moore asked to bring IWA vice-presidents and refused to meet the premier without them.

"Many of you will remember when Mr. Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress, would have sat down with anyone to enhance labor's position," he said, adding the stalwart CCFer A. R. Mosher would have done the same.

Too many labor leaders now are "afraid to show any sign of cooperation with the government" for fear of losing favor with the NDP, Mr. Peterson continued.

"That's the real reason why the president of the IWA refused to see the premier."

He charged that recent violent activities on the labor front "were promoted and exploited by persons whose political aspirations are first and the welfare of the workman second."

Strong unions are necessary, he continued, and most trade union members want to settle their disputes peacefully and legally.

Mr. Peterson said that because this was a major contract year in large industries some 300,000 people could have been left jobless by legal strikes or lockouts but that only 1,000 were affected.

From Seattle Building

Businessman Dies in Fall

A Victoria businessman, Leonard H. Stelck, 47, of 2805 Murray Drive, fell to his death from a fourth-floor apartment building five escape in Seattle yesterday.

His mother, Mrs. Jessie Stelck, 1214 Old Esquimalt Road, reported to Seattle police her son suddenly got off a bus which was about to leave for Canada. She said they were returning home from a trip to Hawaii.

Witnesses said Mr. Stelck grabbed at wires during his fall and hung on briefly each time.

Jail Start In 1963

Facelifting of accommodation in the police station should begin with the ground floor next year, Mayor R. B. Wilson said yesterday.

"Slow that Shankh has taken its customers from our jail to its own lockup," the mayor said, "we have an opportunity to at least make a start by reorganizing and improving accommodation on the ground floor of the building."

He said other improvements to meet "many problems" in the Flagg Street headquarters should be carried out as soon as funds are available.

FOR ARCHITECTS The buildings committee yesterday recommended city council provide funds early in 1963 for architects to make preliminary plans for renovation of the interior of the police station.

Mayor Wilson said the plans should be ready early in the year so that when budget time rolls around there can be "an intelligent decision" on the work which the city can afford.

CENTENNIAL SQUARE "I think this work will be highly desirable in view of the surrounding development of Centennial Square," said Ald. A. W. Toone.

Ald. Millard Mooney said the police commission's request for funds to hire an architect constitute "the first definite action" to correct the situation.

Funeral arrangements, to be announced later, will be handled by McCall Bros.

PAST DRYING Little moisture remains after rains in Brazil's dry northeast, 80 per cent evaporating.

City Parks Committee

Pound Fee Hike Refused

City parks committee yesterday rejected an SPCA proposal that pound fees be increased from $2 to $3. Aldermen also gave short shrift to a suggestion that a door-to-door canvass would bring to light many people who do not buy licences for their dogs.

A sanitary inspector will check up on complaints from Mrs. Ada V. Bukin, 1156 Mason Street, that pigeons kept nearby are a public nuisance.

Ald. A. W. Toone, chairman of the city's harbor committee, will try to arrange an early meeting with district officials of the federal public works department to discuss proposals for improvement of the Inner Harbor.

City engineer James Garnett was instructed to write to boards of both Veterans' Hospital and Royal Jubilee Hospital to determine their views on extension of Bay Street from Richmond east to Lee Avenue.

The committee also voted to repay $4 to Mrs. Lillian Stocker, who runs a beauty salon at 3007 Gosworth. She paid paid four parking tickets during a period when incorrect signs were posted.

Islanders to Attend Consecration of Bishop

Many Vancouver Islanders will attend the consecration in St. Boniface, Man., Friday of Father Remi Joseph De Roo as Roman Catholic bishop of Victoria. Installation will be in St. Andrew's cathedral here at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 20.

Islanders include Father Michael O'Connell, vicar capitular of St. Andrew's cathedral; Father Philip Hanley, pastor of Assumption parish, West Saanich.

Father Jean-Belanger, command chaplain, Pacific Coast; Mother Mary Angelus, provincial of the Sisters of St. Ann; Sister Mary Monina, superior of St. Ann's Academy.

Mrs. A. C. Niehaus, Che-minus, diocesan president, Catholic Women's League, and Mrs. J. A. McLellan, Victoria, past-president; John Di Castri and Ald. Michael Griffin, Victoria.

Father Arthur Leonard and William Mahoney, Port Alberni; Father Donel Lehan, Campbell River and Monsignor A. G. Baker, Nanaimo.

Three Areas Back Grants

Three councils in Greater Victoria have approved in principle giving grants toward a $1,000,000 expansion of Royal Jubilee Hospital, and the fourth council—Esquimalt—is considering similar action.

The hospital needs $135,000 from the councils to round off the $1,000,000 it is counting on from a private benefactor and the federal and provincial governments.

The program would provide additional laboratory, class room and nursing school residential facilities.

LETTERS to the Editor

To be considered for publication in whole or in part letters must be on subjects of general interest, not more than 300 words in length, and, if signed with a pen-name must be accompanied by the writer's name and address.

In her outline for world peace, submitted in poetical form in the Sunday issue, Lucia Hull may have overlooked a few ideas of which I would like to remind her.

Those dear "Peace Marchers" and their brothers, who'd have the bomb and all such others. For words of counsel most benignly, we thank you for your verses so kindly.

Then shall mere words from you pretend, you are our guide, philosopher, and friend? Your urgent call to take the fight, to work for peace, then, can't be right.

The bombs, forsooth! In good supply, should be the answer to our cry. Our time is one that calls for need, for reason, government, and truth must lead. Man's erring judgment with strong bias rules misguided pride can be the voice of mules, and end a world of utter trivia.

VERA PEPPER, 350 Dallas Road.

Satisfactory Employment

"You quote the manager of the National Employment Service as saying that the employment level 'remains very satisfactory for this season of the year.' The total registered unemployed here is reported as 3,648. Is it 'satisfactory' to have this number of unemployed? There is only one situation that merits this adjective—it is when work can be found for all who seek it."

E. M. MOORE, 696 St. Patrick Street.

Acheson's Remarks

Your readers who are old enough to remember the tremendous Hearst press of the U.S.A. and the McCormick press of Chicago, and also perhaps remember statements of Mayor "Big Bill" Thompson of Chicago (who desired to punch King George V right on the nose), during most of his life to sensational and highly colored attacks on all things British.

It is surprising that this experienced statesman made his address to the U.S. Army college cadets at West Point where the relative number of black skins to white is hardly in accordance with true democracy.

Premier Receives Setback

Freedomites Balk Over Ottawa Trip

Premier Bennett's recent emergence as the Freedomites' friend got its first setback yesterday.

Some 24 hours after he made the happy announcement that Freedomite spokesman had accepted his offer of an expensive trip to Ottawa, the four-member delegation still had its feet firmly planted at Hope.

However, another provincial move in the Freedomite situation was in progress. Nelson Magistrate William Evans, a confidante of the sect, left for Ottawa at B.C.'s expense to approach foreign embassies in a search for a new home for the Sons of Freedom.

At Hope, in a way more than slightly familiar to provincial officials who have lived with the Sons of Freedom problems for years, the sect had suddenly attached a new condition to acceptance.

The Sons decided they couldn't go anywhere without Hope village commission chairman Paul Scherle, the man who brought 65 of them to Victoria last week.

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Fleming said Tuesday he has received no information from Attorney-General Robert Benson of B.C. about a visit to Ottawa by a delegation of the Sons of Freedom.

Mr. Scherle is unloved by many provincial officials. Attorney-General Robert Benson, commenting during the vigil of Freedomites on the legislature steps, said he had "ceased to be part of the solution and has now become part of the problem."

An audience with the premier was suddenly terminated when Mr. Scherle threatened to bring 30 bushels of Freedomites to Victoria unless a solution to the village's problem was forthcoming.

Yesterday the government objected to sending Scherle, and the delegation suddenly dug in. They decided not to take advantage of reservations made by the premier's office on a 9:50 a.m. Ottawa jet flight today. Last night nobody was prepared to say when, or whether, they will make the trip.

The delegation was to ask the federal government to set up a house or senate committee to look into the Freedomite problem.

Premier Bennett has long insisted the problem is a federal one but that the only step Ottawa has ever taken, construction of the Mountain Prison at Agassiz, did nothing but precipitate the recent march from the Kootenays.

Saanich Woman Dies at 91

A 91-year-old Saanich woman, Mrs. Margaret Gordon, 3775 Carey Road, died yesterday at St. Joseph's Hospital.

She was born in County Down, Ireland, and lived in Saanich, B.C., for 26 years before moving to Victoria 25 years ago. She was a member of Garden City United Church.

Funeral services will be held at McCall's funeral home at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow, Rev. L. G. Sieber and Rev. Dr. E. A. Wright officiating.

ROSS CLARKSON, D.C.L. JACK PEMBROKE, C.B.E. JOHN M. WELLS CONRAD F. HARRINGTON

Following a meeting of the Board of Directors of The Royal Trust Company yesterday, these executive changes, effective January 1, 1963, were announced:

Ross Clarkson, D.C.L., retires as Chairman of the Board after 54 years' service with the Company, to become Honorary Chairman; Jack Pembroke, C.B.E., President since 1955, succeeds

Mr. Clarkson as Chairman of the Board and continues as Chairman of the Executive Committee;

John M. Wells, Vice-President and General Manager for the past seven years, succeeds Mr. Pembroke as President; Conrad F. Harrington, Vice-President and Supervisor of Ontario Branches, returns to Montreal to become Vice-President and General Manager.

Forestry Program Will Benefit Island

Some 70 per cent of the cost of a 10-year, $2,300,000 "intensive forestry" program announced by MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd. in Vancouver Monday will be spent on Vancouver Island.

The seven-step program is designed to grow bigger trees quicker.

It will involve planting almost 3,700,000 trees a year and within 10 years will yield an additional 140,000,000 board feet annually from the company's forest holdings.

Company officials said here yesterday the immediate effect of the program will be to create 80 new full-time jobs and the same number of part-time jobs. Long-range effect, resulting from the increased yield per acre, will "probably make several hundred more jobs available in various divisions of the company."

Seven steps of the project are early planting after logging.

Bank Holdup Foiled By Customer

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — Bank customer Don Graham overpowered a holdup man who threatened a bank staff with a toy gun Tuesday in a Bank of Nova Scotia.

Meivin Roland Kerr, 21, of Montreal, was charged later with attempted robbery.

Graham was talking to relief manager Orville Goldby when a thin, dark man, wearing no disguise, entered the bank.

TELLER FROZE

The gunman had tossed a brown bag to teller Janet Walker and told her to fill it. "I just froze," Miss Walker said. "I was too scared to play any part."

The holdup man then backed up toward the office where Graham had been talking to Goldby. He called to Graham to come out. Graham lunged out, tackled the man and wrestled the weapon from him.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Hockey, basketball and football as it was played a quarter century back wouldn't interest today's sports fan. In the stepped-up pace of living they demand speed, thrills and continual action and the rules-makers wisely keep changing their minds to meet this demand.

Basketball did away with that boring jump ball and gave possession to the club scored against after each field goal. The professionals made their game more interesting with the rule that a shot must be taken within 24 seconds after gaining possession, and foul shooting was cut to a minimum and the game further speeded up for the amateurs by the rule which costs possession if a foul is made except in the act of shooting, which still results in two free shots. Hockey became almost a new game with the introduction of the centre line and the forward pass revolutionized football.

While admitting that there can be too much tampering with rules, changes often come too slowly and I, for one, would like to see a few new rules in football and lacrosse, particularly lacrosse.

Football, as public interest indicates, doesn't now need much in the way of change but that doesn't necessarily mean that there aren't ways to make the game more interesting.

Kick-off returns, for instance, are always interesting and it would certainly add to the number of thrills if Canadian football adopted the American practice of kicking off after field goals. Another improvement, in that it would do away with those cheap and often game-deciding no-yards penalties would be to allow blocking on punt returns with the punting team permitted to touch the ball down if no effort is made to field it. And something should be done to stop the deliberate taking of the too-lenient stalling penalty—something like stopping the clock at the completion of each play during the last three minutes of each half and not starting it again until the ball is snapped.

Lacrosse, however, is badly in need of some drastic changes to restore fan interest. It can be as exciting as any game but too often action is so slow and tedious that it can even take the edge off when the home club wins.

One of the big drawbacks is that the game is now mainly played in hockey arenas with floor surfaces too large to produce sustained speed. Cutting down the size of the playing surfaces would pose problems but it would be worth an effort, and it might easily be feasible, to at least put up temporary end boards and cut the floor length to no more than 100 feet.

Easier to legislate against are two of the more time-wasting and boring practices in sport: the stalling of a short-handed club and those dreary face-offs which are easily the dullest way of putting the ball in play to be found in any sport.

A penalty should set the stage for some of the more exciting action in any game but in lacrosse it is often the start of two sad minutes of little action. It is ridiculous that the club in possession is permitted to keep the ball when it gets a penalty. Stopped, too, should be the practice of the goalkeeper on the short-handed club being allowed to take a pass from a teammate. A short-handed club should be allowed no more than 20 seconds to get across a centre line when it gains possession and never permitted to pass back into its own zone, or even get the ball there by bouncing it off the end boards.

And while face-offs can't be entirely eliminated, they could be at least be used only to open each quarter and after a shot has been turned into the crowd by a goalkeeper. At other times when the ball goes out of play, the loser should be the club which last touched the ball. And there should be no need to face-off after each goal. Better would be to use the basketball rule of permitting the club scored against to put the ball in play from behind its own goal. And most fans, I feel sure, would take to extension to the whole game of the rule which now forces clubs to shoot within 60 seconds or lose possession during the last five minutes of each game. A big clock at each end ticking off the seconds would have to add interest.

Changes like these may sound a bit radical to lacrosse officials who have not been distinguished by any daring thinking but they should come closer to making lacrosse a more interesting game than the watery proposal to enlarge the size of the goals. More goals that way won't necessarily provide more action but if you force the action you'll likely get both.

Cougars Come Back To Defeat Esquimalt

Last night's scores: Victoria 3 at Esquimalt 2. Goal scorers: Victoria 3 at Esquimalt 2. Goal scorers: Victoria 3 at Esquimalt 2.

Four straight goals, the last four of the game, gave Victoria Cougars an 8-3 Pacific Coast Junior Hockey League victory over Esquimalt Bruins in the Esquimalt Sports Centre last night.

Victoria pushed the Bruins further into the four-team league basement with the victory.

Trailing, 3-4, early in the third period, Victoria tied the game on a goal by Larry Johnson. Buzz Wilson put them ahead five minutes later, then Gary Elmore added two goals before the game ended.

Lionel Dubeau also scored twice for Cougars and single goals came from Ray Beech and Paul Blon.

Doug Couch and George Springer scored twice for Esquimalt and Dave McKegney scored their other.

NFL All-Star Selections Almost Half Green Bay

NEW YORK (AP) — Green Bay Packers dominated the Associated Press all-star team of the National Football League with a total of 10 of the 22 players selected on the offensive and defensive units.

Paul Hornung, the Player of the Year in 1961, did not make the team selected by a committee of sports writers and broadcasters from the 16 league cities. Green Bay's star halfback missed about half the season due to a knee injury.

FIRST TEAM
Fullback Jim Taylor, tight end Ron Kramer, tackle Forrest Gregg, guard Jerry Kramer and centre Jim Ringo of the defending champion Packers were named to the first offensive team. Defensive end Willie Davis, tackle Henry Jordan, linebackers Dan Currie and Bill Forester and cornerback Herb Adderley of the Packers made the defensive unit.

New York Giants, who already have clinched the Eastern Conference title, put four men on the two teams including Y. A. Tittle, their 35-year-old quarterback, and Del Shuler, his favorite target at right end. Tackle Roosevelt Brown also was placed on the offensive team in the Giants and safety Jimmy Patton made it on defense.

LIONS PLACE FOUR
Detroit Lions' tremendous defensive unit earned four places with Joe Schmidt, the hardy perennial, at centre linebacker, 236-pound Roger Brown at tackle and Dick Lane and Yale Lary in the secondary.

Jim Parker, Baltimore Colts line tackle who moved to guard in midseason due to the illness of Lamar Fite, received a guard assignment with Kramer, who took over Hornung's place-kicking chores. The Colts also

Moore—Reluctant to the End

By JACK MURPHY
Copy News Service

And whatever became of Archie Moore? Four weeks have passed since the Mongolian crawled into his den to nurse the wounds inflicted by a precocious pugilist named Cassius Marcellus Clay. Now the memory seems a bit less painful; I am only slightly embarrassed to ask my friend the result of his meditations.

"I have been remorsefully recounting things," says Moore, evasively. "It's a good general who can recount his mistakes."

After being knocked out in the fourth round—just as Clay had predicted—Moore is torn between reality and self-delusion. In his characteristically quaint fashion, he admitted his dilemma when I again asked if he intends to retire.

"A lot of people don't like to go to funerals because they hate to admit what they already know," came the reply. "Maybe I'm like that."

With his 50th birthday coming up Thursday, the Grand Old Party of boxing knows he is kaput. But, like an office-seeker on election night, he is reluctant to make a formal concession. He is through as an important figure in boxing, yet, like all old troupers, he is still intoxicated by the smell of grease-palm.

Moore's legion of friends and admirers is hopeful he won't degrade himself by back-sliding to the rather pathetic role of a trial horse. It was embarrassing, acutely embarrassing, to witness his futility against an apprentice whose schooling consisted of only 15 pro fights. Moore reveals a great deal about himself when asked to analyze Clay's chances. If any, against heavyweight champion Sonny Liston.

"Clay is all right, a good prospect, he says, 'but the boy has certain limitations, certain faults. Before Cassius fights Liston, he needs at least a couple of years of work in the toughening-up department. Swift as Clay is, he can't remain out of a man's way indefinitely."

"Cassius is a big, nice-looking fellow but he doesn't have the build of a genuine heavyweight. A real heavyweight is a man like Liston who comes down from around 225 to 210. The scales say Cassius is big enough, he weighs 204, but he's built more like a runner or a swimmer than a fighter. He doesn't have the big neck, big shoulders and long arms of a true heavyweight."

"Clay can make a lot of money fighting people besides Liston and I earnestly recommend this policy. Cassius is pretty but Sonny mean Liston. Liston is going to be the champion for a long time."

Redmen Threaten to Sue for Burns; Parks Committee Seeks Repair Bill

Executive of the Nanaimo Redmen juvenile football club has threatened to sue the city of Victoria for damages unless immediate action is taken in the matter of lime burns suffered by Nanaimo players in the Little Grey Cup game Nov. 30 at Royal Athletic Park.

Three Nanaimo players—Ed Plensky, Lorne McKenzie and Pat Gillingham—were hospitalized for six days with burns suffered because the Nanaimo team claims that the wrong kind of lime was used to mark the field for the game against Winnipeg Rams. Two Winnipeg players were also burned, but released the next day so they could go home with the rest of the team.

Nanaimo won, 9-8.

LETTERS EXCHANGED
"We sent a letter to city manager Cecil Wynn asking what compensation the city was prepared to make," Redmen coach Ed Burke told the Colonist last night. "We got a letter back saying they were looking into it."

"We have been very patient about all this, but unless some action is taken very soon we will go ahead and sue. We have the permission of the parents of the three boys and, if we have to, we'll take the matter to court to settle it."

SIX DAYS
"The boys were in hospital six days, and when I picked them up they had to limp to the car. They won't be playing any more sports of any kind for at least two months."

"This thing has got to be settled."

The matter of the lime was only half of a squabble over the Little Grey Cup game that is continuing two weeks after the game itself.

Yesterday in city council, the city parks committee recommended that a bill for $382.99 be sent to the Vancouver Island Junior and Juvenile Canadian Football League.

It represents the normal expenses—for lights, power and PA system—plus costs of damages to the park itself. These include costs of goalposts torn down by fans, 12 yardage markers and four corner flags, all grabbed by fans after the game, as well as costs of damages to the showers and a table in the Winnipeg dressing room.

"I can't speak for my executive, but personally I don't see how we can be asked to pay for the goalposts, flags and markers," league president Lorne Heath said last night. "How can we be held responsible for the actions of fans at the game?"

"Naturally we expect to pay for the damage to showers and facilities in the dressing room. I must point out that all these damages were in the Winnipeg dressing room, and none in the Redmen quarters, but they are our responsibility and we realize that. To be held responsible for the rest is ridiculous."

RENT FREE
Teams were given the park rent free to stage the game, but no provision was made for damages, or for policing the park.

Heath and his executive will meet as soon as they receive the bill. Burke and his Nanaimo executive are waiting, impatiently, for a reply from the city before launching their threatened suit.

with Alec Merriman

A three-week antlerless deer season (this year it was two weeks) and an extra weekend of elk shooting, where cows and calves will be fair game, are in the cards for southern Vancouver Island hunters next year.

"Biologically that would be the proper thing to do," said regional game biologist Don McCaughran last night after compiling preliminary statistics on this year's deer harvest. Hunter success on Vancouver Island is down .1 per cent, to 12.8 deer for each 100 hunters from 12.9 per cent. But the total harvest as recorded through seven checking gates for which complete returns are available indicates there has been a 32 per cent increase in both hunters and deer harvest.

McCaughran believes that when the hunter sample survey is completed it will show 25,000 deer killed on Vancouver Island this year, compared with 21,245 last year.

"We would like a bigger kill. We are killing about 10 per cent of our deer population, but we could kill around 25 to 30 per cent and do no harm," he said. "The only way to get a bigger kill is to get a larger number of hunters."

He credited improved hunter access for the 32 per cent increase in hunters.

There were no hunter fatalities on Vancouver Island this year, which is a credit to all hunters, and those new blaze orange hats and jackets.

Antlerless deer kill this year was up 45 per cent of the total harvest, from 20 per cent last year, but "we would like to see one to one," said McCaughran.

"We can afford to kill more antlerless deer," he said.

He said deer in the southern part of the island were in good condition. Victoria Fish and Game Club hunters have had a 12 per cent higher success than last year in the Sooke, Leechtown and Cowichan Lake areas where that club mans access gates.

Nell Cave, who keeps club records, said one deer had been harvested for every 4.7 club hunters.

McCaughran said he expects to recommend that the lower part of the island, south of the Kokishah, falls in line with the rest of the island with a three-week antlerless season next year.

This year the antlerless season was upped one week, to two weeks, in the south of the island where in past years the fish and game club deer committee has bitterly opposed any antlerless season.

McCaughran said he would like to see a still greater deer harvest, but observed that with a greater harvest would come a higher percentage of fawn kill. Game management policies would have to change and it would have to be decided whether to manage for number of animals, pounds of meat, or for trophies. "We are now managing for numbers of animals and we are getting trophies and meat, too," he said.

He thinks elk season should be extended by one weekend, which would be an anysex weekend, south of Alberni highway, and by considerably longer in the north of the island where there are plenty of elk, but a big access problem.

This year, when there was little fire hazard, hunter gate checks represented 171 days of hunting compared with 152 last year.

Some 19,819 hunters this year, represented as seven check points, shot 1,400 bucks, 734 does, 363 fawns, for 2,495 deer. Last year 14,724 hunters shot 12,014 bucks, 508 does and 183 fawns for 1,909 deer and 12.9 per cent success.

Success through the Colwood checkpoint was down to 10.6 per cent this year, from 14.8 per cent last year. In eight days this year 1,430 hunters bagged 147 deer. In six days last year 827 hunters bagged 121 deer.

In the road checks at Campbell River success was up only 1 per cent, but 20 per cent more deer were bagged. In 11 days this year 25,077 hunters bagged 540 deer for 21.4 per cent success and last year in nine days 14,075 hunters bagged 303 deer.

At Cowichan Lake the harvest was increased by 20 to 23 per cent.

At Ladysmith this year 1,806 hunters shot 122 deer and last year 1,449 hunters 124 deer; Comox Lake this year 1,205 hunters 227 deer, last year 1,008 hunters 271 deer; Wolf Lake this year 2,480 hunters 301 deer, last year 3,301 hunters 297 deer; Northwest Bay this year 3,902 hunters 681 deer, last year 2,358 hunters 402 deer; Ash River this year 3,644 hunters 662 deer, last year 2,829 hunters 300 deer; Deerholme this year 2,501 hunters 316 deer, last year 1,082 hunters 139 deer; Nanaimo Lakes this year 3,943 hunters 329 deer, last year 3,471 hunters 370 deer.

In Copper Canyon area 3,278 hunters shot 189 bucks, 123 does, 43 button fawns, 32 doe fawns, 268 grouse, three bull elk, 77 pigeons, three bear and one cougar.

Spurs Edge Rangers, 3-2

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)—Tottenham Hotspur of England defeated Glasgow Rangers 3-2 Tuesday night to gain the quarter-finals of the European Cup of Cup Winners soccer tournament.

Tottenham won by 8-4 on aggregate after home- and away games. The Spurs beat Rangers 2-1 in London last month. The English team meets Slo-van Bratislava of Czechoslovakia in the next round.

A sellout crowd of 80,000 saw Tottenham's triumph under the floodlights of Glasgow's Ibrox Stadium. The English team led 3-0 at half-time.

The game was a triumph for former England centre-forward Bobby Smith, brought back into the Tottenham team after three months in the reserves. He scored two goals.

OPENS SCORING

Inside - left Jimmy Greaves, former star of Milan of Italy, sent Tottenham into the lead in the 10th minute. He ran past several Rangers before slamming the ball home.

That goal gave Tottenham a 1-0 lead at half-time.

Inside-left Ralph Brand levelled the score in the 47th minute. But five minutes later Smith sent the Spurs back into the lead with a cannonball shot that went into the net off the underside of the crossbar.

Smith got the winner two minutes from the end, heading in a cross from Scottish international left-half Dave Mackay.

The ground was heavy after rain—conditions which are supposed to suit Rangers. But Tottenham lasted the pace better.

At present the local garrison boasts two army champions in Pte. Cal Omond and L.Cpl. Larry Cardinal. Cardinal also holds the distinction of being last year's Pacific Northwest champion and holder of the B.C. Golden Gloves.

Curriers are again divided into senior and junior sections. Juniors are boys whose 18th birthday falls before June 30, 1963, and the senior class takes in boys up to 19 years of age. There will be three events in each age group with all rinks assured of three games and prizes for all curriers who reach the finals in any event.

Curling will be during the day, at either the North Shore, Capilano and Burnaby Winter Clubs or the Marpole, New Westminster and Vancouver Curling Clubs. Finals will be held at Marpole on Saturday evening, Jan. 28.

The bonspiel is open to all high school students who curl out of clubs affiliated with the POCA and tickets will be provided for all Vancouver Island rinks requesting accommodation. Fraser Valley students will commute for their games.

Entry fee is $6 a rink and should be forwarded with entry to Mort Ballard, 3067 West 35th Avenue, Vancouver 12.

A minimum of 150 rinks is expected for an event which has mushroomed since its inception in 1959, when 50 rinks entered. The figure rose to 124 last year, 85 in the junior section and 60 in the senior age bracket.

Camellia Is Hardy

By M. V. CHERNIT, FRANK

Our ancestors certainly got off on the wrong foot with a vengeance when they first started cultivating the camellia.

When the first plants were received in Europe in the 17th century, it was believed they were exotic, tropical subjects to be grown and fed only in the warm, moist atmosphere of a heated greenhouse. This was due largely to the writings of father George Kamel, a Jesuit missionary in the Philippines for whom the shrubs are named.

For more than 200 years these handsome evergreen shrubs were pampered as greenhouse subjects in England and France, and it wasn't until the turn of the present century that some daring gardeners tried a camellia outdoors and discovered its inherent hardiness. We know now that, under normal weather conditions, this subject will survive almost anywhere in the coastal portions of British Columbia.

The shrubs themselves will live through a hard winter, true, but getting flowers on them is a pup from a different litter. The problem here is the camellia's habit of blooming very early, and there is always the danger of an early spring frost nipping the buds or flowers.

Actually, it isn't so much the frost itself that does the damage to the buds, but the effect of the morning sun on frozen tissues. If the frost bitten buds are permitted to thaw out slowly in the shade, little harm is done. The trick here, to provide such conditions, is to plant your camellia on the west side of the house where the rays of the early spring sun can't fall upon the buds until nearly noon, giving them time to thaw out slowly.

The camellia loves to grow in an acid, peaty soil with a fair amount of sand in it, but will thrive in fairly heavy soil if it is well drained and free from lime, for like the rhododendrons, azaleas and hollies, these plants cannot stand an alkaline soil.

One good way to maintain an acid condition, so necessary for the well-being of these shrubs, is to mix plenty of rotted oak leaves in the planting soil and to follow this up with a good thick surface mulch of the same material, keeping it up annually, and spreading it well out beyond the outermost tips of the branches. Where oak leafmould isn't available, ordinary peat moss will serve but not any of the peat moss mixtures containing lime or marl.

It is possible, of course, to correct an alkaline soil through the use of chemicals, but this is a ticklish business. The danger is critical, and a slight overdose can give rise to all sorts of weird nutritional disorders. For this reason, I very much prefer to use the leafmould or peat, which you can add until the cows come home without doing any damage.

Outside of lime, two things a camellia will not tolerate are a poorly drained site where puddles lie over the roots through the winter, and too-deep planting. Set your new camellia in the ground not more than an inch deeper than it was in the nursery, as indicated by the soil mark on the stem.

Space Research May Create Superhuman

Scientists to Modify Man

By FRANK MACOMBE

exchange them after 30,000 miles.

Dr. Toby Freedman, director of Life Sciences at North American Aviation, Inc.'s sound one the way motorists Space and Information Syslish doctor is alive today with another doctor's kidney. It's only a question of time before such operations change from the last resort category to the elective procedure category.

"People will exchange their failing hearts and livers the way we change old tires for new."

The problems of space travel are supplying the impetus in this virtually unexplored medical field.

"Early improvements in man will be designed mainly for the astronaut," Freedman concedes. "But what we learn to help the astronaut can be passed along to earth-bound man as well, for his improvement."

Freedman warns that such medical approaches arouse tremendous public opposition.

"We have inherited a tradition of the natural man, the perfect physical specimen, on which it would be impossible to improve," he says.

"Medicine in the past has confined itself to restoring the patient to his natural state and left it to the cults and quacks to offer programs for developing 'superhuman' powers. The very word 'superhuman' has all kinds of unscientific and fraudulent overtones when applied to human beings."

"Yet if we look at the evidence," Freedman insists, "all over the world people have developed by hit-and-miss, unscientific, impractical methods that are literally superhuman abilities."

"Tibetan lamas can maintain normal skin temperature in subzero cold, yoga buried alive manage on a fraction of normal oxygen consumption, Eskimos thrive on a high-fat diet that would give us all coronary, Peruvian Indians do heavy labor at altitudes where you and I couldn't breathe."

"Now science, for the first time, has taken the trouble to look into these phenomena and investigate them."

"Rather than modify man radically through surgery, as some favor, I prefer to follow nature's lead," Freedman says.

"It may be possible to develop a man whose outward appearance is normal but who has been adapted to the oxygen requirements of a Himalayan Sherpa, the heat resistance of a walker-on-coals, who needs less food than a hamlet, who has the strength of a Sonny Liston and who runs the mile in three minutes flat while doing analysis in his head."

Freedman foresees such a man in the reasonably near future.

Dab on Neck Cold Comfort

By WENDELL HICKS

The common cold is a rare disease. It reaches the status of rarity because of the number of remedies prescribed to defeat it and no other ailment has been subject to so much abuse with so little success.

An Irishman has presented the latest enemy of the common cold. His claim is that any man with a new haircut can catch a common cold and prevent it with an application of Irish whiskey.

"There was this man in Dublin," he was saying. "He was a man I know very well and a man I lived with for a long time, at that."

"I can say this without contradiction. He was my father."

"Now, somehow, him being what he is and his father before him, he became engaged in the honored trade of importing fine wines, liquors and whiskies. It was a labor of love with him and never mind that he happened to be making good money because of his loving nature."

"Well, my father was no dandy. No one ever claimed he was and I'm not going to be the first."

"Just the same, there were times when he would be having his hair cut."

"Now, there may be Irishmen who won't admit it, but on some rare days, it does get cold in Dublin. During such times, if my father got a haircut, he would wrap a scarf around his head, rush home, go into the warehouse and rub a bit of Irish whiskey on the back of his neck where the hairs were shortest."

"You know, he never had a cold for years. He had the best-laid neck in Dublin at the same time so he always looked like a man who had been heading into a strong sun."

"The treatment has another advantage, at that. He doesn't need calling cards because he is always bathed in the odor of his product, if you know what I mean."

"My father was going to put the stuff up in bottles and sell it as a remedy for the common cold with the proper instructions for its use. But he never did."

"He said he'd be accused of encouraging people to go out and get colds and he knew the Irish whiskey would be abused, if you take it internally, it takes a long time to get to the back of your neck."

Ghana-Bound Without Her

Mrs. Edusei Loses $8,400 'Crisis' Bed

LONDON (UPI)—Mrs. Mary Edusei's $8,400 golden bed is going back to Ghana, where it has already caused a minor government crisis.

The gold-plated bed hit the headlines last March when Mrs. Edusei, 31, wife of Ghanaian industries minister Kwame Edusei, spotted it in a London store and said, "I'll take it."

The news that she had paid $8,400 for somewhere to sleep got back to Ghana and caused a sensation.

"I believe in socialism," Edusei told his wife in a widely published phone call from Accra. "An $8,400 bed is no place for a Socialist."

"I don't know anything about politics," Mrs. Edusei answered. "I am just a woman. I like the bed. Every wife will know how I feel."

Mrs. Edusei kept the bed. Her husband, already under attack in Ghana for alleged luxurious living, lost his job.

Time passed. Mrs. Edusei and her bed stayed in London. Edusei resented his political fortunes in Ghana and was re-luctant.

The bed was forgotten until last weekend, when thieves broke into Mrs. Edusei's $230-a-month apartment here and stole $5,600 worth of jewels and travellers' cheques.

Five burly removal men showed up at the apartment yesterday to take the 1,650-pound bed away—"for safe keeping," Mrs. Edusei said.

She returned to say where it was going, but her husband's nephew, Kofi Edusei, said he would take it back to Ghana with him when he goes home early next year.

"But Mrs. Edusei is staying in London," he said.

Did that mean she was leaving forever from her beloved bed? The nephew would not say.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Heating Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance which is the privacy of their own homes without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved, and while gently relieving pain, actual reduction in size (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—the improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of months.

As fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these cures were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of over 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, cauterization or gettings of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a human antibody substance. Bio-Dyne is a substance which can be broken in just time as all parts of the body.

The new healing substance is derived in supporting or enhanced form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with equal application. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores.

Attacks Inexplicable —Man Ordered To Stop Drinking

Assaults on an aged Chinese and a young boy were violent, inexplicable and to a large degree inexplicable, Magistrate William Ostler told Michael J. McGuire, 1711 Duchess, yesterday.

McGuire had admitted the Nov. 24 assaults on 70-year-old Lum Wah, 2327 Blanshard and 13-year-old Dwayne Laughren, 2715 Scarie in Vater's Store, 2003 Government.

'MOST DISTURBING'

"This is a most disturbing case because these assaults were violent, inexplicable and to a large degree were inexplicable," Magistrate Ostler said.

"This seems to be a 'text-book case' of pathological intoxication as evidenced by the atypical behavior on your part."

FROM ALCOHOL

"I am satisfied it is as much a surprise to you as anyone else. I am satisfied . . . you were ill as a result of the alcohol you had consumed and which you are unable to take. You simply cannot drink."

Magistrate Ostler fined McGuire $75 for the assault on the child. He was released on a $250 bond to be of good behavior for six months and abstain from alcohol on the other charges.

Raised from juvenile court to city police, Mitchell Alfred Swain, 17, of 538 Cecilia, pleaded guilty to damaging windows, lighting fixtures and desk tops at S. J. Willis Junior High School Dec. 8, and to theft of a transistor radio.

Magistrate Ostler was told Swain and another youth threw rocks and concrete through windows at the school, causing $707.77 damage.

TOOK A RADIO

The same day, while visiting a girl, he stole the radio from her home.

Swain was remanded to Dec. 17 for sentence.

Eighteen-year-old Albert C. Canfield, 1140 Palmer, admitted helping Swain cause the $707.77 damage at the school. He was also remanded to Dec. 17 for sentence.

John Thomas Whitaker, 451 Dupplin, was sentenced by Magistrate Ostler to 10 months in default and six months in default on each of seven charges in city and in Saanich police courts. The sentences are concurrent.

In city court, Whitaker was sentenced for charges of theft and possession of a stolen car; in Saanich court, on charges of stealing two telephones, a tarpaulin and hubcaps. He was sentenced to the young offenders' unit.

Four of the five charges in Saanich court were joint charges involving Frederick Armstrong, 551 Short. Armstrong was sentenced to 10 months in default and six months in default at the young offenders' unit.

Donald N. Ross, 239 Sebastian, Nanaimo, was fined $25 for theft of a tire. Court was told Ross took the tire from Tolmie Home Service Garage, 3201 Douglas, while an attendant was mending a flat tire. He was apprehended in Duncan.

Bulldozers' Arrival Ruins Pupil Parking

Car-driving students of Oak Bay Senior High School today lose a temporary solution to their parking problem.

Principal Charles A. Gibbard last night said students were to be ordered beginning today to keep their cars off a 100-by-330-foot tract of land recently acquired by the Greater Victoria School Board off Fort Street.

BULDOZER DUE

Bulldozers, he had been told, were to move in today and begin clearing the land for playground area.

Forced by recently passed Oak Bay bylaws off streets surrounding the school, students last week began using the vacant lot.

Mr. Gibbard said with closing to parking of the Fort Street lot, he sees no solution for the student drivers but to use other residential streets.

JAMES J. PROUDFOOT

Victim of Stroke

Ex-Prosecutor Dies Suddenly

James J. Proudfoot, a former city prosecutor, died Monday evening in Royal Jubilee Hospital at the age of 41.

He was admitted to hospital over the weekend after a stroke. His health had been poor for a number of years. Mr. Proudfoot was born in Stair, Scotland, and brought to Victoria at the age of six. He attended Malvern House School while his father, Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, was headmaster; University School, Victoria High School and Victoria College.

He was appointed city and Oak Bay prosecutor at the age of 30 but resigned the posts after six months service.

Mr. Proudfoot is survived by his father, living in Scotland, and a sister, Agnes—Mrs. Jack B. Anderson—805 Dereen. Funeral services will be held in St. Barnabas Church Saturday, conducted by Canon Thomas Bailey of Anglican College, Vancouver.

B.C. Delays Action Against Social Club

B.C. cabinet yesterday deferred judgment on a company whose operations embrace a Victoria social club which began as an organization purely for single men and women.

The company's fate came before the cabinet as a recommendation from the registrar of companies that Dolphin Recreations Ltd. be deprived of its registration.

Vancouver president of the company, Elmo Johnston, appeared at the hearing.

He said afterwards "The Dolphins" have 30 to 40 members in Victoria and a total of 300 including Vancouver.

The company, he added, was promoting a fund drive to build luxury clubs for the members.

The office of the registrar of companies says Dolphin Recreations Ltd. is selling shares but has no assets.

MEMBERS BOUGHT

Mr. Johnston says memberships are being sold in an unincorporated club separate from the company. Fees range from $300 to $1,000.

The plan is to enrol enough members to finance a $1,000,000 recreational centre.

Mr. Johnston said he would be paid for his work when the company received commissions on the memberships.

A Victoria real estate firm official last night said Dolphin's Victoria office was closed Nov. 10.

Arthur Knight, who several months ago became Victoria agent of the organization, said he is no longer associated with it and could not discuss its local operations.

Surveyor's Estate $77,755

Well-known retired Sidney surveyor Albert Godwin Langley, who died Oct. 8, left a gross estate of $77,755 to his widow.

His will, probated at Victoria Courthouse, showed real estate worth $15,000, stocks valued at $38,588 and bonds and debentures worth $20,657.

Mr. Langley, 85, lived at 2519 Admirals Avenue, Sidney. His will directed that in the event of the death of his widow, Mrs. Jessie Dorothea Langley, the estate should go to three daughters in Whonnock.

City, Oak Bay Police Investigating Thefts

Two thefts are being investigated by city and Oak Bay police.

First one occurred in the lobby of a Newport Avenue apartment block between 7:30 p.m. and 9:40 p.m. Monday.

Thieves stole a four-foot mirror, a coffee table and a step table worth a total of $55.

Second theft involved a smash-and-grab raid on an Oak Bay Avenue electrical repair shop at 3:35 a.m. yesterday.

A youth threw a heavy stone through the window and grabbed two transistor radios, an electric toaster and an electric shaver, worth a total of $117.

Russian Arrested As Spy for West

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced Tuesday night the arrest of a Russian scientific worker on a charge of giving state secrets to British business man Greville Wynne and a United States embassy diplomat.

The news agency Tass said the Russian, O. V. Penkovsky, had worked for British and U.S. intelligence services since last year.

Tass, describing Penkovsky as an employee of the state committee on co-ordination of scientific research work, said he sold secret information about the Soviet Union, of scientific, technical, political and military questions to Wynne and to Richard Carl Jacob, secretary-archivist of the U.S. embassy who was expelled last month on a charge of spying.

Wynne, 42, was arrested in Budapest, Hungary, Nov. 2 and is awaiting trial here on espionage charges. Russian authorities said Wynne has pleaded guilty.

Tass said an American embassy staff member named "Karlson" was accused, along with "some other officials of the diplomatic representations of the United States and Britain," of receiving secret material from Penkovsky. This raised the possibility of further expulsions.

The only officer of the American embassy staff whose name resembles that given by Tass is Rodney Carlson, an assistant agricultural attaché. He has served in Moscow since last spring.

Control Tower Error Blamed in Fatal Crash

OTTAWA (UPI) — A collision between a Voodoo jet interceptor and a Trans-Canada Air Lines Viscount in October at Bagotville, Que., which killed two persons was blamed on an error by a control tower officer, association defence minister Pierre Sevrigny disclosed Tuesday.

Sevrigny told the Commons that an officer gave take-off clearance to the RCAF Voodoo pilot before the Viscount, which had just landed, had taxied from the same runway.

The minister also said steps were taken to ensure that all aircraft are well clear of a runway before a departing aircraft is cleared for take-off.

An RCAF spokesman said it was unlikely there would be any regulation changes, but instead a directive to make sure present regulations are carried out.

Help Sought In Cost Of Policing

To help defray the cost of policing the part of Patricia Bay Highway which is in the municipality, Central Saanich will seek financial assistance from the provincial government.

A letter to that effect was formulated at last night's municipal council meeting and will be forwarded to the government.

The council also voted to place No Parking signs on the south side of Wallace Drive—a fire route.

The department of public works will be instructed to carry out the project immediately.

St. Matthias Play

Crooks Offer Honest Mirth

By BERT MINNY

There's a barrel of fun to be had any evening for the rest of this week just by going down to St. Matthias Parish Hall and taking in the current production of The White Sheep of the Family.

The play itself is by two old masters, Ian Hay and L. du Gard Pech, the dialogue sparkles from beginning to end and the action is deftly unfurled.

The St. Matthias Little Theatre cast, very particularly in the cases of Frank Allen, Basil Isigonis, John Poulton and Doris Exton, took full advantage of the opportunities thus offered them. Mr. Isigonis, in fact, is just about a whole show by himself.

Barbara Brown, Anthony Winstanley, Jo Pepper and John Richards likewise did excellently though their parts were shorter and Jennifer Allen provided a distinguished piece of characterization. The adept manner in which the whole cast identified itself with the parts carried was exceptionally praiseworthy.

Guest artists include Peggy Walton Packard, Johnnie Page, Rino Efferth and hal and Jean Mather's formation dance team. Orchestral music conducted by Howard Denike will alternate with stereophonic reproduction, and accompanist is Kathleen McCreesh.

Scouts Plan Greece Trip

Seven Boy Scouts from Vancouver Island will attend the World Scout Jamboree in Greece in August, 1963.

Led by Scoutmaster David Barker, the boys include David Allen, Leonard Duval and Wayne Lister, all of Victoria; Sean Hogan and Colin Tassin, of Duncan; John Steenberg, of Nanaimo; and Frederick Crowder, of Alberni.

Expansion Discouraged Shelter Plan Tabled

A woman who spent nearly $40,000 building an animal shelter in Saanich has been advised by council to build another shelter farther out into rural surroundings instead of expanding the one she has.

Council didn't exactly refuse the request of Mother Cecilia Mary for permission to expand the Good Shepherd Shelter at 4151 Borden Street—it tabled the matter for further consultations with its planning department.

It started some years ago, when Mother Cecilia Mary, founder and mother superior of St. Mary's Priory at Langford for 40 years, started picking up dogs which were being mistreated.

In no time at all, she had a dozen, then two dozen dogs under her care. Four years ago, she bought the Borden property, and a shelter was built there two years later.

"We've got more than 100 animals here, including some cats and one goat," she said yesterday.

She has invested so much money, that she hates to start looking around for another start.

Mother Cecilia Mary retired a year ago from her position at St. Mary's Priory. She now spends full time looking after her animals.

None of the animals which enter the Good Shepherd Shelter are ever put to sleep. If

Three Incumbents, Four Others

Seven Seek Seats In Council

Council

By IAN STREET

Seven candidates including three incumbents are contesting four city council seats in Thursday's civic elections in Victoria.

There are three candidates trying for two seats on Greater Victoria school board.

Ald. Arthur Dowell has the longest service of any member of council. During his 12 years as an alderman he has served on every committee and been chairman of the most important. He is acting-mayor, a post he has held for six years, and chairman of finance.

A company president, Ald. Dowell is now seeking a seventh term on city council.

"The city is in excellent financial shape as was shown last week when city council accepted a premium bid for the sale of $1,115,000 bonds for downtown parking facilities.

"It has been my privilege to be chairman of the city's tax sale land fund for several years. During this time we have received from the sale of city-owned property some $1,500,000. Such capital projects as Point Ellice bridge, new fire hall and new garbage wharf were built from this fund.

"Revenue from this source over the next eight to 10 years are estimated at more than $800,000 and this money we propose to spend on Centennial Victoria Square. We wish to borrow $650,000 only to complete the job as soon as possible.

No Added Burden

"City council is fully convinced that the amount of the bylaw can be repaid—at least in the greater part, if not entirely—out of profits from these land sales and other anticipated revenue. It will not be added burden on the taxpayers."

Ald. Amelia Curtis is a veteran of eight years on city council and 14 years as a school trustee. He was also chairman of Greater Victoria school board. In 1962 he was in charge of entertainment and reception of visitors during Centennial celebrations.

For most of his council service Ald. Curtis has been closely associated with the fire department. He is chairman of the firewardens committee and, if re-elected, will press for relocation of the Burnside firehall near the Point Ellice bridge. He also wants early consideration of more adequate fire protection for the developing north-eastern section of the city.

Ald. Curtis wants a "major change" in educational finance to assist municipalities. He promised to continue to try to keep taxes at the lowest level consistent with good government.

Ald. A. W. Toome is seeking a second term on city council. For the past 22 years he has served the community through participation in affairs of the community chest, John Howard Society, community welfare council, senior citizens housing society, and other groups.

Favors Night Sessions

He would like to see night meetings of city council so that any qualified member of the community could run for election as an alderman.

Ald. Toome has headed the committee which planned Centennial Victoria Square and is also in charge of urban renewal studies. He pressed for establishment of an industrial research commission to encourage secondary industry to locate here and after being named chairman expanded it to cover all Greater Victoria.

"Community progress demands good citizenship," he says. "If you think in terms of what is best for Victoria and the people of the community you cannot go far wrong."

Elmer McEwen has been a restaurant proprietor in downtown Victoria for 10 years. He was a city alderman from 1957 to 1960. He announced his intention to run for mayor in 1965 and 1961. He had to withdraw in 1965 because he did not qualify under the Municipal Act's property regulations. In 1961 he withdrew when Donald Smith announced his intention to run for mayor. Mr. McEwen was an unsuccessful candidate for election to the federal government on the Social Credit ticket in 1958.

"I think I can do a lot for Victoria with my experience on city council," Mr. McEwen said.

Tried Twice Before

Cecil Parrott is a former school trustee who was employed by the city for 10 years as assistant building inspector. He is retired and can devote full time to duties of alderman. He tried unsuccessfully for a council seat on two previous occasions.

The Centennial Square development will improve the appearance and attractiveness of the downtown area, but Mr. Parrott warned that it is up to city council to strive constantly for renewal of rundown areas. "Other cities have learned planners cannot be disregarded indefinitely except at mounting cost," he said.

Robert Baird is an investment counsellor who has lived in Victoria since 1938. He served with the air force as an instructor during the war and is now a member of Toastmasters International and St. Andrew's and Caledonian Societies.

He wants immediate action on the question of adequate bus transportation so that the full burden will not be thrown on the taxpayers when the franchise expires in 1967. He believes council is building high-rise apartments in "willy-nilly" fashion and wants council meetings patterned after a board of directors meeting.

Vicor Williams, a company director, has also tried and failed to win a city council seat in the past. He was born and educated in England, served in the Royal Marines, and has experience of both radio and newspaper work. He is president of Victoria Welsh Society and an instructor at the boys' club.

Square Endorsed

He endorses the Centennial Square project and advocates more control of the police commission by city council. Senior citizens should get free passes on B.C. Hydro buses, he says, and he wants completion of Blanshard Street extension, more comfort stations, and a "complaint office" manned by aldermen at city hall.

Mrs. Elizabeth Maunsell has been a member of Greater Victoria school board for 10 years. She is seeking a sixth term as trustee because she feels her experience will help in the board's constant struggle to keep abreast of mushrooming enrolments.

Ralph Fryer, a commercial photographer, is married to a teacher and has one daughter in school. He is seeking a second term as trustee. He wants a royal commission on educational finance and thinks the load of taxation can be lifted from property owners by adding another 2 per cent tax to liquor, tobacco and horse racing.

M. Lloyd Clarkson, a petty officer based at HMCS Naden shore installation, is the only newcomer to civic politics. He has six children, four of them in local public schools, and believes that school trustees have an obligation to provide the public with more information.

Youth Held In Robbery

A city detective yesterday arrested a youth in connection with a theft of a mirror, coffee table and step-ladder from an apartment block lobby at 1319 Newport Monday. (See Page 12.)

Detective Gus Monroe was on his way to investigate the case when he spotted a youth walking on Pandora who answered a description given him. The loot, estimated at $200, was recovered.

City Man Dies After Fall

A Victoria man, Louis Demol, 67, of 816 Walker, died last night after a fall down an air shaft Monday morning.

Mr. Demol had been helping his son, Albert, install a television antenna in an apartment house at 1010 Queens.

Shortly after being admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital Mr. Demol underwent emergency surgery.

His condition yesterday was reported as "poor." He died last night.

Zoning Action Assailed

A strong protest against the apparent impotence of Oak Bay council to check certain cases of circumvention of municipal zoning regulations was levelled by an Oak Bay councillor last night.

"I can not see this going along and countenancing gradual increase in non-conformity," Coun. Fred Robinson said at a meeting of the municipal zoning and planning development committee. Non-conformity in use of a building, legally allowed in certain cases, for a purpose other than its area is zoned for.

His remark came during a discussion of a request from Jimmy Cricket's kindergarten that it be allowed to add another classroom, intended for Grade 2.

Jimmy Cricket's would be seriously non-conforming under regulations for proposed school zones now being considered by council, municipal engineer Geoffrey White said.

GEOMETRY ALTERATIONS A councillor suggested the Jimmy Cricket situation is roughly analogous to a decision taken by council Nov. 19 to permit certain alterations to a non-conforming grocery store.

"Don't go into that," said Coun. Robinson, "or I'll blow my cork." The Nov. 19 decision to permit the alterations was taken in committee of the whole and such sessions are closed to press and public.

OPPOSED PERMIT But minutes of the meeting, distributed Dec. 3, noted that Coun. Robinson voted against council's decision to grant the permit.

Coun. Robinson last night said it seems the non-conforming use of a building, once it gets started, can continue and increase no matter what regulations are considered good for the municipality.

The dispute over the grocery store alterations involve a dispute over the legal meaning of a "structural alteration" to a building.

Legally, "structural alterations" to non-conforming buildings can be forbidden, but alterations which are not "structural" are apparently permissible.

COMPLEX RULINGS The committee last night gave extensive consideration to a complex set of proposed regulations for establishing a system of school zones in the municipality.

Schools now in the municipality generally do not conform to the standards suggested, but would presumably become "non-conforming" if the regulations were adopted.

Pensioners Meet Old Age Pensioners Victoria No. 1 will meet at 1:30 p.m. today at the Blanshard Street Legion Hall.

Two Men from City Hurt in Island Crash

Driver of a sports car, wrecked Sunday at 9:15 p.m. on the Island Highway near Qualicum Bay is improving in Royal Jubilee Hospital while there is no change in the condition of his passenger, who is still unconscious, a hospital spokesman said last night.

The first man, Michael David R. Briggs, 21, of 245 injuries, cuts and shock.

Ansonb Place, and Allan T. Mitchell, 23, of 2864 Wynne, both of Victoria, were seriously injured when their car snapped a power pole 18 miles north of Qualicum, temporarily disrupting power, Qualicum RCMP said.

So Much for Little

City's Revival Seen in Square

B.C. Aid Pledged

Competition from outside—shopping centre developments in other areas—"dictates" the revival of downtown Victoria led by the Centennial Square project, Mayor R. B. Wilson said yesterday.

He made the comment at a public meeting on the project in Victoria West school auditorium.

SUPPORT URGED He also said that the project will give Victoria "so much for a really modest sum." He urged voter support on the covering money bylaw Thursday.

"It will start the rehabilitation of the downtown area and is based on a matter of necessity," the Mayor added.

AREA IN DANGER

The area was run down, some buildings were empty and with "new competition outside," the area was in danger of further deterioration, he said.

The civic plaza would help lead the renewal of that portion of the city and stabilize property values, he said.

ALL AFFECTED

Ald. A. W. Toome, chairman of a special civic committee in charge of the project, said that declining values and lowering of taxation in the area "affects all homeowners" in the city and their taxes.

There was "some evidence already" that the plans had some good effect on values in the area, he said.

CONVINCED

"The importance of this vital redevelopment cannot be underestimated," Ald. Toome told the audience.

Ald. Arthur Dowell said that "all members of city council... are convinced the development can be financed almost entirely from land sales and other anticipated revenues... without creating a burden on the taxpayers."

LOW INTEREST

But, he said, even if none of the anticipated revenue were available, interest on the full $800,000 in the bylaw would only amount to $50,000 a year over 15 years.

By 1976, it would be possible to pay off the principal, because present city debt would be paid off then.

That would amount, Ald. Dowell said, to an added 20 cents a month taxes for a homeowner assessed at $5,000.

Injured Man Now Improved

In good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital is Karl Potanski, 42, of 23 Linden, who was injured Monday morning when he accidentally drove a cement buggy off the scaffolding at the site of a new office building on Fort Street.

STAFF NOTEBOOK

To Those Who Wait... You're Not Forgotten

By Ted Shackleford

MESSAGE: It may seem a little early for a Christmas message but we found this one in the December edition of a pocket-sized publication named Transition:

"The spirit of Christmas is not confined. It is heard in the sounds of carols and laughter. It is a season of giving and of hope. It is the one time of year that mankind reflects the spirit that, were he to carry it with him each and every day, would truly make of this earth a paradise.

"And, because it is Christmas, it is a day that many of us would be with and events that would be shared. It is a time of families and for children. It is Christmas.

"To those who wait: to those who hold the lonely vigil on this special day; to the wives and children, families, friends and all our readers, may you be assured you are not forgotten. To all of you may this Christmas have some special meaning and hope for the coming year."

Inside the front cover of Transition is this note which tells the whole story:

"Transition is... published... by and for the inmates of the British Columbia Penitentiary, New Westminster, B.C., under authority of the Commissioner of Penitentiaries, Ottawa.

"Transition is provided as a means of expression and communication for the inmates."

papers ignore the case, but once in a while there is some aspect that really merits publicity. Such a case was heard in city police court yesterday when Magistrate William Oatley dealt with an elderly man who tried to take his life with a 22 rifle.

Const. Gardiner Bennett entered the basement where the man was sitting, holding the rifle, and charged with him for a few minutes. Then he suggested the man might like to see his son before he carried out his threat to shoot himself in the head. While the man's attention was drawn to his son, Const. Bennett sprang forward, clasped one hand over the trigger and trigger guard to prevent the gun being fired and then wrestled it away.

In releasing the man on a bond to be of good behavior, Magistrate Oatley paid tribute to the courage of Const. Bennett and other police who face unpleasant dangers to protect the public. We thought it was worth mentioning.

Topaz Development Joint Responsibility

Future development of Topaz Park should be a joint responsibility of Victoria and Saanich, Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood said yesterday.

He said the park situated just inside the city boundary gets about equal use from residents of each municipality. It could be placed under the present Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee.

WIDELY USED Topaz Park is used extensively by youngsters playing in organized baseball and soccer leagues.

A bonfire to be held early in January to get rid of old Christmas trees will be at Topaz Park, the parks committee decided.

Ald. Millard Mooney, chairman, said he had been assured that all the Christmas trees will be collected by Cubs and Boy Scouts and burned under proper supervision.

The committee will ask B.C. Hydro authorities to contribute part of the estimated $3,300 cost of converting the flood-lighting system at Royal Athletic Park to meet new voltage requirements.

City parks administrator W. H. Warren was instructed to place $1,500 in his budget for 1963 to cover the cost of staging another summer film festival in Beacon Hill Park.

The committee wants to bring the city's property at Durrance Lake under watershed regulations.

Sweet Treats for Christmas

By LOUISE MOORE

Christmas begins in the kitchen. For it is here that mother cooks up the sweet surprises that will paint a cheery glow on the face of every child.

Christmas is even more fun for children if they are allowed to take a hand in the making of these sweet treats. They can help you by chopping nuts, snipping raisins, cutting up fruits, mixing and shaping candy balls—and, perhaps most important of all, by licking the candy-coated pots clean.

You'll need a two-quart saucepan, wooden spoons for the beating, measuring cups, spatula, cup and spoon to make the cold water tests, metal baking sheet or pans and waxed paper.

A candy thermometer takes the guesswork out of candy making but good results can be obtained by following a few simple rules.

When making the cold water test to determine whether or not the candy is done, remove pan from heat. Let small drop of the mixture fall from spoon into a cup of cold water. For soft ball fudge, fondant or panache, the mixture will flatten on removal from water.

Firm ball stage—holds its shape upon removal from cold water.

Hard ball stage—plastic and chewy upon removal from cold water.

Crack stage—separates into heavy threads in cold water; plastic and bends upon removal.

Hard crack—threads are hard and brittle on removal from water.

Do not stir or shake pan while cooking candy and when it is done set it aside to become lukewarm before beating.

Follow these rules, measure ingredients carefully and you can't go wrong in candy making.

UNCOOKED FUDGE

Melt 4 squares unsweetened chocolate and 3 tbsp. butter or margarine over boiling water; remove from heat. Combine 3 cups sifted confectioner's sugar, 1/2 cup hot milk, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1/4 tsp. salt and mix well.

Add chocolate mixture and stir until blended. Spread in buttered 8x8x2 inch pan. Chill in refrigerator or let stand at room temperature for several hours or until firm. If desired, 1/2 cup chopped nuts may be added before turning into pan.

TUTTI FRUTTI ROLL

Roll enough cracker crumbs to make 1 1/2 cups. Chop up finely, enough mixed candied fruits to make 1/2 cup, add 1/4 cup chopped marshmallows, 1/2 cup finely chopped salted pecans. Mix with 1 cup of the cracker crumbs. Shape mixture into 2 rolls about 1 1/2 inches in diameter and roll in remaining cracker crumbs. Refrigerate for several hours. Then cut into thin slices. Nice for gift boxes.

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE

Put one 3-ounce package cream cheese in a bowl with 1/2 cup chunk-style peanut butter. Blend until mixture is soft and creamy. Slowly add 2 1/2 cups sifted confectioner's sugar, dash salt and 1 tsp. vanilla. Press mixture into buttered shallow pan. Refrigerate until firm. About one hour. Yield about one pound candy.

FRUIT CONFECTIONS

Use any combination of dried fruits such as apricots, prunes, raisins, dates, candied peel and nutmeats. Put through food chopper and moisten with a little of the grated rind. Blend mixture thoroughly. Shape into balls and roll in fruit sugar, ground coconut toasted, finely chopped nutmeats, or drop the balls into melted chocolate. Or instead of balls, form into long roll, wrap in waxed paper until needed then slice and roll in powdered sugar.

This plate of tempting fudges looks good enough to set anyone's sweet tooth tingling.

Delightfully smooth to eat—quick and easy to make.

Heat one package (8 ounces) of semi-sweet candy-making chocolate over boiling water until partly melted; remove from heat and stir until melted. Add 1 cup sifted confectioner's sugar, 1 tbsp. milk and 1 well-beaten egg. Blend well. Chill until mixture can be shaped into small egg-shaped balls. Roll balls in cocoa, chopped nutmeats, chocolate sprinkles or in tinted or toasted coconut.

Stuff dried fruits with fondant for a surprise treat at holiday time. To prepare figs, dates and prunes for stuffing, steam in colander or coarse strainer over a kettle of boiling water. Keep covered for 5 to 10 minutes or until plump but not soft. Then make a lengthwise slit in each and gently spread apart. Carefully remove pits from dates and prunes. Stuff with fondant, roll in grated orange rind then in granulated sugar.

EASY FONDANT

Sift 2 1/2 cups confectioner's sugar in a bowl and slowly add 1/4 cup sweetened condensed milk and 1 tsp. vanilla flavoring. Mix until smooth. If not easy to handle add more sugar. Fondant may be tinted with food color. Nut halves, glazed cherries or slivers of candied orange rind may be pressed into fondant. Or shape fondant into balls and press between halves of walnuts or pecans or almonds. Or roll fondant balls in grated chocolate, finely chopped nutmeats or finely chopped candied fruits.

BEST EVER VANILLA FUDGE

Place in saucepan 2 cups sugar, 2/3 cup heavy cream, 4 tbsp. light corn syrup and 1/4 tsp. salt. Cook slowly stirring constantly until mixture comes to a good boil. Then continue cooking, stirring only occasionally, until a small quantity

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: What does one say to children when they ask questions about an aunt who lives in a beautiful apartment, drives a new car every two years, wears elegant clothes, exquisite jewelry and furs, and doesn't have a job?

The truth is, she's the great and good friend of a rich old cool who is married.

Rita has a nice personality and always behaves like a lady. She is generous to her widowed mother and is always there with her cheque book when someone in the family needs help. I guess you'd call her a good egg.

But this doesn't alter the fact that she is a kept woman. Now, what do I tell my children? — STUCK FOR AN EXPLANATION.

Dear Ann Landers: Tell your children that Aunt Rita is good to her widowed mother, is always there with her cheque book when someone in the family needs help and that she is a good egg. This is all you know for sure—and it's all they need to know, too.

Dear Ann Landers: When should parents stop trying to help their children? When they go away to college? When they become 21? When they marry? Is there a specific time when parents ought to let their children do exactly as they please without one word of criticism or advice?

Our son graduated from the university four years ago. He now has a lovely wife and two darling children. This is the time when we should be proud of him but instead he's an embarrassment.

He used to be immaculate, and a smart dresser. Now he gets his hair cut once in a blue moon. His clothes are never pressed and he goes without shaving for days at a time. His shabby appearance breaks my heart. He seems to have lost all self-respect.

As his mother do I have the right to say something? — SAPHIRE.

Lucky Horseshoe Over Bride's Arm

As Mr. and Mrs. James Walter Gilbert left the church following their wedding the bride's aunt, Mrs. G. Long, slipped a horseshoe covered with satin ribbons and heather over the arm of the bride, an old good luck custom.

The bride, Sandra Ann Carlow, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jason Carlow, 2607 Selwyn Road and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Gilbert, 380 Latoria Road.

A bowl of white and yellow chrysanthemums was on the altar table in Metropolitan United Church for the ceremony. Baskets were filled with bronze and yellow chrysanthemums. Rev. Laura Butler officiated. During signing of the register, the organist, Eric Boothroyd, played "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over nylon net. Panels of net on the bouffant skirt were caught with lace roses and tiers of net and lace created a bustle effect at the back. Her veil of illusion net rested from a coronet of pearls and sequins. She carried a white Bible, gift of her parents, and red rosebuds tied with white ribbon streamers.

Matron of honor, Mrs. R. Renfrew, sister of the bride, wore a gown of beige nylon over taffeta with gold lame bodice and toning hat and veil. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

ice Carlow, sister of the bride, and Miss Judy Gilbert, sister of the groom, wore similarly styled gold dresses and carried bouquets of peach-toned flowers. A third junior bridesmaid, another sister of the bride, Miss Velda Carlow, wore a peach dress and carried pink roses. All attendants wore matching white feathered hats.

Flower girl, Terry Thompson, niece of the bride, wore a pale blue nylon frock and a bandeau of apple blossoms and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and blue ribbon streamers.

Wayne Wenstob was best man. Ushers were Ricky Long, Bud McCulloch, Gary Wenstob and Wes Papke.

Uncle of the bride, George Long, proposed the toast at a reception in the home of the bride's parents. Vases of red rosebuds, ferns and white candles decorated the bride's table with a two-tier wedding cake.

Leaving for a honeymoon in State of Washington the bride donned a black wool suit with green flecks, green hat and gloves, black patent leather accessories and a corsage of apple blossoms.

Swift Sure Way To Reduce

The results are dramatic! Many patients lose as much as two and a half pounds a day—without drugs and (after a day or two) without hunger! Read in December Reader's Digest how this method, as ancient as the Bible, works wonders for patients who are unable to reduce by any other method—and they stay reduced. "Look how JAVEX brightens colours"

Most things are colourfast today, and you can depend on "Javex" to revive the colour that soap or detergent alone cannot. "Javex" brightens colourfast fabrics by removing foreign residue. Add "Javex" to your coloured laundry next washday and you'll see the bright new difference.

After many washings in soap and detergent, this fabric appears dull and lifeless. The natural colour has gone almost to grey. The fabric surface is rough and hard.

"Javex" has lifted and dissolved dirt and grime to restore original brightness of colour. Now there's a better "feel" to the fabric. Looks almost like new.

The wise housewife relies on JAVEX* completely.

Winning Contract

It was not easy for South to play today's deal correctly. First, he needed to perceive that two good lines of play were available, each of which would gain in certain circumstances. Second, he had to remember the bidding and appreciate that one of the crucial situations was highly improvable. The first three bids were straightforward. East's hand does not look strong enough for a bid of three diamonds, but East hoped to crowd the opponents a bit and there is only slight danger in the bid. In fact, East-West can make nine tricks in diamonds. South was also a trifle forward in bidding three hearts, for both his suits are of moderate quality. But he did not wish to say merely three spades when there might be a better fit in the heart suit. Over three hearts, North rightly jumped to four spades. His three honor cards were clearly worth their weight in gold, and his doubtless heart suggested a useful ruffing possibility. West led the club king and then the ace, and declarer ruffed. He quickly saw that it would be foolish to draw three rounds of trumps and depend on a 3/3 heart split, so he led two rounds of trumps only and then started hearts. Unfortunately, West ruffed the third round with the spade jack, and South was down one. The winning play is to lead hearts immediately, and the bidding should have guided South. His actual play would gain only if West held three small spades and shown two clubs, he could hardly hold seven cards in the major suits.

Unfortunately, West ruffed the third round with the spade jack, and South was down one. The winning play is to lead hearts immediately, and the bidding should have guided South. His actual play would gain only if West held three small spades and shown two clubs, he could hardly hold seven cards in the major suits.

South was also a trifle forward in bidding three hearts, for both his suits are of moderate quality. But he did not wish to say merely three spades when there might be a better fit in the heart suit. Over three hearts, North rightly jumped to four spades. His three honor cards were clearly worth their weight in gold, and his doubtless heart suggested a useful ruffing possibility. West led the club king and then the ace, and declarer ruffed. He quickly saw that it would be foolish to draw three rounds of trumps and depend on a 3/3 heart split, so he led two rounds of trumps only and then started hearts. # U.K. Elections Changed By Canadian

By ALAN WALKER

LONDON (CP) — Scruples, perches and drachmas are on the way out, and a pound of butter won't be as heavy.

Confused?

Scruples, perches and drachmas are little-used terms for weights and measures and the British government thinks their elimination will make life easier for Britons.

They are being abolished, along with such terms as poles, bushels and pecks in a move to modernize British weights and measures. In the process, a pound will become a little lighter and a yard a little longer.

But the new weights and measures act is fraught with ramifications. Think what will happen to school texts that have baffled children for centuries by asking them about pecks and rods. Mathematics will be a lot simpler, that's for sure.

The simplification of terminology is considered a minor part of the new act. The main purpose is to protect consumers by forcing manufacturers to specify the weight or capacity of their products and to standardize measures.

REPLACE FAHRENHEIT

British officials have become increasingly conscious of simplicity over the last few years. The Fahrenheit scale with its boiling point of 212 degrees and freezing point of 32 has already been replaced by the more logical centigrade scale. There even is talk of eliminating the mass-like British currency system in favor of a decimal coinage.

The act redefines a "yard" and a "pound." A pound will weigh one seventy-millionth less. The yard will be one ten-thousandth of an inch longer.

The yard and pound were originally defined by the length and mass of physical objects made more than 100 years ago. These "imperial standards" have changed minutely over the years. Now the yard and pound are defined in reference to the metre and kilogram of the metric system.

The metre, for instance, is determined by reference to the wavelength of krypton 86 light, which cannot change.

The new definitions were adopted after consultation with the Commonwealth countries and the United States. Canada, Australia and the U.S. have already accepted the new definitions.

ON WAY OUT

Rods, poles and perches—all equivalent to 30 1/2 square yards—are gone. Bushel, peck, pennyweight, scruple and drachm are expected to disappear in five years.

An interesting sidelight to the act is its requirements for measuring whisky in pubs. Specified measures are one-quarter, one-fifth and one-sixth of a gill. A gill is one-quarter of a pint. The publican will have to display a sign stating which measure he is using.

The Scottish whisky measure now is bigger than the one used in England. Vacationing Englishmen have sometimes been surprised to find a Scottish "double" a good deal more potent than they expected.

The whisky measure won't be put into effect for two or three years, giving tradesmen time to calculate which one to use.

Unemployment Highest

Britain's Jobless New Symptom Of Social Revolt

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP) — Mounting unemployment is a symptom of the social revolution convulsing Britain in her drive towards industrial expansion.

The latest figures showed 544,451 persons out of work in November, the highest for any November in 14 years. Experts predict the total will climb to 750,000 early next year.

Unlike the unemployment of the 1930s, the problem is regional rather than national. Yet the very hint of breadlines has cost Prime Minister Macmillan's government two by-elections this year. Unemployment is certain to be a decisive factor if Macmillan calls an early general election.

The regions primarily affected are Wales, northern England, Scotland and Northern Ireland where the basic heavy industries of steel, coal, cotton and shipbuilding are all suffering a decline that is probably permanent.

AUTOMATION SPREADS

Redevelopment of these areas is complicated by two factors. First, there is widespread redundancy throughout British industries because of recent automation and a general crack-down on feather-bedding.

Second, and more dramatic, there is a massive population drift away from the grim unward northern counties towards the richer south. England has become a giant toothpaste tube gradually being squeezed into London.

LITTLE CAN BE DONE

Little can be done about redundancies at the moment. Employers are realizing that conservation of manpower in expectation of a boom no longer makes economic sense.

The government's best hope is that entry into the competitive European market will stimulate new production sufficiently to absorb the skilled workers now laid off.

The migration problem is seen by most observers as the ironic byproduct of prosperity, the inevitable upheaval that goes with a modern industrial revolution.

In the 19th century northern England, although ugly and unhealthy, thrived and served as the workshop of the world. Its industries built bridges in America, laid out railways in Argentina, clothed armies and powered navies.

Now, in the wake of scientific and technical advances, Britain is switching over to light industries, most of them located in the south and the midlands.

As the mines, mills and shipyards close down or go on short time, unemployment soars. Nearly five per cent of northern England's working population are on the dole. Scotland's unemployment figures are near 100,000 and conditions are equally bad in Wales and Northern Ireland.

HEADING SOUTH

Seeing little hope for the future, the north's young and skilled workers are heading for the brighter prospects and higher incomes available in London and the southeast. Officials calculate the drain from the north at more than 10,000 a year.

Although it is seldom warmer and often dirtier, London draws northerners the way Florida draws Canadians in winter. The attractions are obvious and inherent.

CENTRALIZED CITY

The metropolis is the most comprehensive and centralized city in the world. The Queen and the Royal Family live in London and all national government is concentrated here. It is the financial and cultural pivot of the country, the centre of all communications.

The port of London handles 20 per cent of Britain's shipping and 25 per cent of the country's workers fill the city's endless, swollen suburbs. All roads lead to London and all roads are jammed.

UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPTS

Until recently the government has tried to stem the flood with scattered local redevelopment schemes and largely unsuccessful attempts to resettle individual industries. Now critics are asking for radical intervention on a national level.

Planners want London decentralized with government departments split away from the Whitehall nucleus and moved into depressed areas. Fast-track clearance and co-ordinated programs for new roads, better communications and more training colleges are demanded for the north.

But critics admit it will take years before the north's crowded, dark, squalid cities are wiped out, the dark satanic mills levelled and the smog cleared to leave a green and pleasant land.

Mystery Object Wind Measurer

OTTAWA (CP) — A 300-pound "mystery object" discovered in the bush near Moncton, N.B., about two weeks ago was identified by the federal transport department Tuesday as a "transonde" — a U.S. device for measuring winds in the upper atmosphere.

Christmas Begins at the Bay

Beaver Lake

Million Dollar Centre Planned

By JACK FRY

Plans for development of a $1,000,000 hotel, recreation and convention centre on a 67½-acre parcel south of Beaver Lake were outlined yesterday by city lawyer Foster Isherwood.

A public hearing on Mr. Isherwood's application for rezoning of the property will be held at the Saanich municipal hall at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

ON HIGHWAY

The land is adjacent to the southern boundary of city-owned Beaver Lake property, and has 1,700 feet of frontage on the Patricia Bay Highway. Representative of a large American hotel-motel group will visit Victoria early next year to consider the possibility of building a 100-to-800-room hotel with large convention hall, said the lawyer.

LARGEST CENTRE

Development of the rolling farm land into the area's largest tourist and convention centre, through dealings with American promoters, will be backed by Foster Isherwood, his brothers Joseph, George and John, and the Isherwood estate.

It will not be the family's first venture into the hotel business. The late Thomas Isherwood, father of the four brothers, along with an uncle of theirs, converted the old Hibben-Bone office building into the Churchill Hotel, 1140 Government, in 1940.

DEVELOPED IN DEPTH

"We bought the property, keeping in mind that it can be developed in depth... maybe along the lines of a Harrison Hot Springs close to town, with a good view of the Olympics and room enough for horseback riding on bridge paths," said Mr. Isherwood. The brothers filed their application early this year for rezoning of a small portion of the parcel from agricultural to tourist and recreational use, but later indicated a willingness to rezone the whole parcel, in accordance with a recommendation of the Saanich advisory planning commission.

The Real Antarctica

Master Key
To History
Of World

By RON FOULTON

Third of a Series
McMURDO STATION,
Antarctica—One early explorer called this continent: "centuries of heaped up solitude."

To anyone who has seen it, it comes as no surprise that Scott was forced to ask, as he crossed the Beardmore Glacier:

"Could anything be more terrible than this silent, wind-swept immensity?"

4,000 Men

Explorers have dared it for 75 years. And this year the United States—one of seven countries in occupation—is assaulting it with 4,000 men, three dozen aircraft, eight ice breakers and a fleet of supply ships.

Man cannot leave it alone because this continent is at once the most intriguing, the most mysterious and, in some ways, the most beautiful on earth.

Once it seemed as inaccessible as the moon. Parts still are because its snows

Fog Won't Budge

Grey Cup weather, which fogged out all but one commercial airline flight to and from Victoria in the past two days, threatens to continue at least until this afternoon.

Meanwhile, the Lower Mainland remained buried in fog for the fourth straight day Tuesday but there was a glimmer of hope it will be gone tonight.

40-Inch Avalanche

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Juneau remained semi-paralyzed Tuesday after one of the heaviest snows on record—40 inches—while Ketchikan, 230 miles away, suffered additional damage from torrential rains.

Delayed-Action Gift

B.C. SERVANTS
TO GET RAISE

By TERRY HAMMOND

Premier Bennett yesterday announced a delayed-action Christmas present for B.C.'s 14,000 civil servants—higher pay.

The long-expected announcement came at a government luncheon held at the Empress Hotel in honor of 30 provincial employees with 25 years of service. (See Page 2.)

He told his suddenly-attentive audience, "It is not possible for the government at all times to properly recognize civil servants as far as monetary matters are concerned because we only deal with tax funds."

"But last year we made some changes and some increases."

'ONLY FAIR'

"It is only fair to say that in the next budget (Feb. 8) there will be some increases as well."

The premier later declined to tell reporters how much the increase will be, but said "it will be general and over-and-above the usual annual increments."

REQUENT

Announcement of the increase came in the face of the B.C. Government Employees' Association request for 10 to 24 per cent raises and a civil service appeal board's recommendation that government match salaries with industry. The premier's statement affecting provincial civil servants came a day after Ottawa's announcement that 63,000 federal employees will also get raises.

STEP ADDED

Last proposed increase for provincial workers came in 1959 and earlier this year all flat-rate employees got three to five per cent raises. The salaried group had a step added to the increment range but all except senior employees had to wait from one to six years to collect it.

Federal Boost
In January

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal civil servants granted retroactive pay increases won't receive cheques in time to cash them for Christmas.

W. G. Drew, chief treasury officer at the central pay office, said Tuesday it will not be possible to give government employees their retroactive pay until the end of January.

New Sticks
At Gordon

MONTREAL (CP)—More than 700 students demonstrated in downtown Montreal late Tuesday protesting testimony by CNR president Donald Gordon to the Commons railway committee, while a delegation of students met Mr. Gordon for an hour and 15 minutes. (See Page 7.)

Police arrested at least three demonstrators as they tossed overboards, snow and sticks at some 50 constables guarding the front entrance of the Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

Mr. Gordon said he had explained to the delegation the CNR system of recruiting and promotion of its officers.

British Mop Up

Brunei Uprising
Falling Apart

CP from AP-Reuters

LABUAN, Brunei—The commander of British land forces in the Far East said today the North Borneo revolt is collapsing before co-ordinated British attacks on the insurgents in Sarawak and Brunei.

Gen. Sir Nigel Poett said British troops took Lawas and Limbang, in Sarawak, today and Kuala Belait, in Brunei. These were centres of rebel strength in the revolt.

The revolt is collapsing, said Poett. "We are confident that the order will soon be maintained."

He said that in the fighting in Limbang, about 40 miles south of this North Borneo island, both sides suffered casualties. He gave no figures.

He said there was no fighting at Lawas, near Limbang.

British troops are reported to have cleared most of Sarawak, the major oil centre 75 miles southwest of Lawas, but rebel use of nine Europeans as hostages slowed the British drive for full control.

The troops freed some 400 other Europeans who took refuge in their homes when the rebellion began five days ago.

Revolt Ended
In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—Argentine leaders said Tuesday night a day-long air force revolt had been resolved and the situation in the country was "entirely normal."

Their statements followed a day of confusion in which at one time three men were reported claiming to be commander-in-chief of the air force.

Air Secretary Juan Carlos Perera said he intended to fly to Cordoba—"seat of revolution"—where Brig. Cayo Alandia set up a rebel air command after being dismissed from his post as air force chief.

"I believe the crisis has been overcome," Perera told reporters after a cabinet meeting.

Informal sources said that, in addition to Alandia's dismissal, Brig. Gilberto Hidalgo Olivera, air force combat commander, had been relieved of his post and placed under arrest at Cordoba.

Unconfirmed reports said the two officers apparently were in contact with officers of other branches of the armed forces and nationalist civilians who wished to impose a dictatorship.

Policy Change?

Skybolt Cancellation
Brings U.K. Warning

LONDON (AP)—Britain made it plain to United States Defense Secretary Robert McNamara Tuesday night that cancellation of the Skybolt missile project could lead to a complete reappraisal of British policy and defense commitments, British informants reported.

The informants described a day-long exchange between McNamara and British Defense Minister Peter Thorneycroft as "outspoken and tough."

FIRM, BLUNT

Thorneycroft, the informants said, put the British viewpoint "firmly and bluntly."

Britain's future as a nuclear power is said to hinge on the U.S. Skybolt missile. The exchange was said to leave the final decision on the Skybolt program with President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan when they meet in the Bahamas next week.

The sources said that a British reappraisal of its defense commitments could mean cancellation of U.S. use of the Polaris submarine base at Holy Loch, Scotland.

NO SUBMARINES

The Polaris missile was being mentioned as a possible alternative to be offered Britain. But British defense ministry officials point out Britain has no submarines capable of firing the Polaris and no plans for building any.

PAISLEY, Scotland (Reuters)—The town council of Paisley, 20 miles from the United States Polaris missile base here, voted Tuesday night to ask the British government to have the base removed from the Holy Loch. The vote was 12 to 8.

Victoria's Share
Of CPR Service
Keeps Shrinking

Further staff withdrawals of the CPR's B.C. Coast Service from Victoria will take place in January—another step in the eroding of this city's status as headquarters of a once-huge fleet.

Mine Fire Isolated

BRITANNIA BEACH (CP)—Work crews started isolating a fire 4,000 feet below ground at a copper mine in this community.

Officials of the Howe Sound Company evacuated 160 miners from the mine Monday after several men became sick from smoke and carbon monoxide.

The war saw the end of the White Emperors, and the post-war rebuilding of the Victoria-Vancouver-Seattle triangle run was not destined to be a success.

ALL-TIME LOW

With the once-bustling Nanaimo-Vancouver link down to a few runs by the Princess of Vancouver, island operations are at an all-time low.

Major summer runs now are the prestigious Alaska run and Victoria-Seattle. However, with no World's Fair next year, the U.S. run won't utilize more than one ship for about three months.

On the heels of an announcement that Yarrow's Ltd. of Victoria

Formosa Propaganda Blamed

EDMONTON (CP)—Agriculture Minister Hamilton says a propaganda attack, originating on the island of Formosa, is being waged against the Canadian government for selling wheat to Communist China.

Mr. Hamilton told the Farmers Union of Alberta convention Monday that the anti-wheat sale propaganda meets wheat everywhere he goes.

In Ottawa, the embassy of Nationalist China Tuesday denied Mr. Hamilton's charge.

Mr. Hamilton made the comment after he was asked why Canada sells wheat to the Communists while people are starving in India and South America.

The minister said the question was comparable to the usual propaganda he encounters.

He said opposition to the Communist China wheat sales is extremely well organized and its effect is being felt across Canada.

Mr. Hamilton said wheat sales to Communist China do more good than harm.

Helpers of All Kinds Help Meet Christmas Need

Penny drives, piggy banks, employees' funds and "Secret Helpers" have all gotten behind The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund drive.

At Victoria High, girl students accepted a challenge from the boys, then dreamed them handily in a 10-day penny drive that saw lines of money winding through the hall.

A total of $124 in pennies was laid out side by side on strips of tape, different colors showing that the girls were mostly ahead.

Their two-to-one victory made the score in 500 Fund penny drives even.

Earlier, a Victoria University, the co-eds lost and became "slaves" to male students for one day.

These letters came in "mail yesterday:

• "This money is from the piggy banks of Karen, Bruce, Wendy and Irving... with love to anyone who needs it."

• "This cheque is donated by a group of little girls who call themselves 'The Secret Helper's Society.' Could you please enter their donation in that name?"

• "Although the Victoria Membership Depot employees were fortunate in being the first contributors to the 1962

Donations to the 500 Fund may be brought or mailed to The Daily Colonist at 3631 Douglas or left at Announcements of Victoria, 700 Yates, during business hours. Donors should specify if they wish to be anonymous. Receipts for income tax purposes will be supplied on request.

Colonist 500 Fund, they wish to add a further donation of $100, for which a cheque is enclosed.

• "They asked me to extend to the Colonist and the administrators of the fund their sincere good wishes for the success of this very worthwhile operation."

• "Christmas is just a few days away. Just before it arrives, all the money collected by the 500 Fund will be divided into 500 equal cheques.

A cheque will go to each of 500 Victoria households that can best use something "extra" to make the holiday slightly happier.

• "The very few people who write and donate to the fund have not forgotten what this 'extra' will mean to these unfortunate families."

Two Men Sent to Prison For Nanaimo Safe Theft

NANAIMO—Robert George Patterson and Robert Thompson Lawson were sentenced to two years in prison each by Magistrate Lionel Beaver-Potts yesterday.

Both accused pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a safe from John Baraby Junior High School.

GALIANO INLAND—One mile of blacktop road from the North End store to a mile south of here was one of the topics discussed at the Chamber of Commerce meeting in Galiano Hall last week.

The 1963 blacktopping proposal met with opposition and was turned down by members who adopted a new plan to have Burrill Drive blacktopped next year.

The chamber decided to ask the department of highways to assist in clearing and widening North End Road.

GALIANO INLAND—Good hunting straight shooting and plentiful fishing was Rev. B. A. J. Cowan's message to the Galiano Rod and Gun Club dinner held Sunday at the Galiano Lodge.

Rev. Cowan then presented the prizes for the big buck derby. First prize went to Jack Silvey for a 151-pound deer, who also won prize for biggest spread—18 1/4 inches.

Other winners: Alfred Atkinson, most points; Earl Young, first deer weighed in; John Bell, second heaviest deer.

PORT ALBERNI—Council will visit Alberni Valley art group's annual Christmas exhibition Wednesday night.

Planning a joint meeting with Alberni council for the same evening, council agreed to postpone the business session until 8 p.m. so they could visit the show in the arts and crafts centre where a special exhibition of paintings by the late Betty Crocker will be featured.

DUNCAN—Sidney J. Leblanc of Cowichan Station pleaded guilty in police court to breaking and entering Ed's grocery store on the Trans-Canada Highway near Trunk Road early Sunday. He was released on a $1000 bail.

DUNCAN—In an effort to aid the Cowichan Christmas cheer fund committee Rev. R. McMillan at a recent children's service reminded the youngsters to bring a gift for some needy child next Sunday.

Churches, schools, service clubs, ethnic groups and private persons are continuing their efforts but many more donations, food and money are badly needed.

DUNCAN—The recently formed Duncan Natural History Society held its first family meeting with 150 attending. Several members from the Victoria Natural History Society pledged assistance for the local group.

Past president of the Victoria society, Freeman King, said he would bring five junior leaders from his society who will organize a nature hike for youngsters between 9 and 10 a.m. Dec. 28. They will assemble at the Guides Hall on Cairnmore Street at 11 a.m.

DUNCAN—Commenting on the $12,000 surplus from the current budget, Mayor Jack Dobson said it had been a tough year but the city made it.

DUNCAN—Some consumers of the city's water system still complain about small black particles, and the engineer will be asked to bring in a full report. Aldermen are concerned the problem will worsen during the summer when the system is used to capacity.

DUNCAN—Winter works program began with 10 men Monday. The additional work force will mainly be employed at parks and other small projects. The total expected to be spent will be $8,000.

DUNCAN—The city will try to eliminate a flooding condition at the Queen Margaret's School and the provincial government will be asked to help as the road in question is under the jurisdiction of the highways department.

One of the projects to be studied more closely early next year is the full development of Trunk Road with sidewalks and full-width blacktop.

DUNCAN—This year's 11-month building permits total is $306,140, compared with last year's 11-month total of $401,889. Building permits in November, 1961, amounted to $3,700 and last November it was $54,090, largest item a school addition at $63,880.

DUNCAN—Social assistance disbursed during last November was $3,896. Last year for the same month the city paid $4,098, two years ago $3,302.

DUNCAN—Inaugural meeting of the new city council will be Jan. 7. Ald. Hamish Mutter recommended the new body should investigate a possibility of bringing in a bylaw which would require the telephone and power authorities to use steel poles whenever they have to replace the customary wooden poles.

NANAIMO—St. Paul's ladies' guild wound up the year's activities by giving an additional substantial sum to the $1,000 already pledged to the church committee.

NANAIMO—Arthur Battley injured in a 40-foot fall at the Harman pulp mill project Monday, is showing signs of improvement but remains in serious condition in hospital.

CHEMAINUS—Lance Higgs of Chemainus was fined $10 in police court for failing to stop at a stop sign.

FULFORD—A rummage auction sale will be held in Fulford Hall from 1 to 4 p.m. today. This is to help pay expenses of the new floor which was recently laid in the hall. Everybody is welcome.

UCLEULEY—Mrs. Agnes Jackson, a resident of Ucleuley Indian reserve, died Dec. 6 at 78. She is survived by her husband, George; a son Milton, and a daughter, Mrs. Clara Livingstone of Cowichan.

TOFINO—Annual pre-Christmas sale of hand-made articles and home cooking by the women's auxiliary of Tofino General Hospital is expected to net $200. The money will be used to buy additional equipment for the hospital.

TOFINO—A turkey bingo is scheduled for Saturday by the Legion branch in the hall, with proceeds going to the Legion welfare fund and for Christmas parcels for Tofino old-age pensioners.

Scouts Plan Greece Trip
Seven Boy Scouts from Vancouver Island will attend the World Scout Jamboree in Greece in August, 1963. Led by Scoutmaster David Barker, the boys include David Allen, Leonard Duval and Wayne Litster, all of Victoria; Sean Hogan and Colin Tassin, of Duncan; John Steenbergen, of Nanaimo, and Frederick Crowder, of Alberni.

The boys will leave Vancouver July 28 for Ontario before embarking on a flight to Greece. They will be away about one month.

Three Incumbents, Four Others

Seven Seek Seats

Council

In Council

By IAN STREET

Seven candidates including three incumbents are contesting four city council seats in Thursday's civic elections in Victoria.

There are three candidates trying for two seats on Greater Victoria school board.

Ald. Arthur Dowell has the longest service of any member of council. During his 12 years as an alderman he has served on every committee and been chairman of the most important. He is acting mayor, a post he has held for six years, and chairman of finance.

A company president, Ald. Dowell is now seeking a seventh term on city council.

"The city is in excellent financial shape as was shown last week when city council accepted a premium bid for the sale of $1,115,000 bonds for downtown parking facilities.

"It has been my privilege to be chairman of the city's tax sale land fund for several years. During this time we have received from the sale of city-owned property some $1,500,000. Such capital projects as Point Ellice bridge, new fire hall and new garbage wharf were built from this fund.

"Revenues from this source over the next eight to 10 years are estimated at more than $800,000 and this money we propose to spend on Centennial Victoria Square. We wish to borrow $800,000 only to complete the job as soon as possible.

No Added Burden

"City council is fully convinced that the amount of the bylaw can be repaid—at least in the greater part, if not entirely—out of profits from these land sales and other anticipated revenue. It will not be added burden on the taxpayers."

Ald. Austin Curtis is a veteran of eight years on city council and 14 years as a school trustee. He was also chairman of Greater Victoria school board. In 1962 he was in charge of entertainment and reception of visitors during Centennial celebrations.

For most of his council service Ald. Curtis has been closely associated with the fire department. He is chairman of the firewardens committee and, if re-elected, will press for relocation of the Burnside firehall near the Point Ellice Bridge. He also wants early consideration of more adequate fire protection for the developing north-eastern section of the city.

Ald. Curtis wants a "major change" in educational finance to assist municipalities. He promised to continue to try to keep taxes at the lowest level consistent with good government.

Ald. A. W. Toome is seeking a second term on city council. For the past 22 years he has served the community through participation in affairs of the community chest, John Howard Society, community welfare council, senior citizens housing society, and other groups.

Favors Night Sessions

He would like to see night meetings of city council so that any qualified member of the community could run for election as an alderman.

Ald. Toome has headed the committee which planned Centennial Victoria Square and is also in charge of urban renewal studies. He pressed for establishment of an industrial research commission to encourage secondary industry to locate here and after being named chairman expanded it to cover all Greater Victoria.

"Community progress demands good citizenship," he says. "If you think in terms of what is best for Victoria and the people of the community you cannot go far wrong."

Elmer McEwen has been a restaurant proprietor in downtown Victoria for 10 years. He was a city alderman from 1957 to 1960. He announced his intention to run for mayor in 1955 and 1961. He had to withdraw in 1955 because he did not qualify under the Municipal Act's property regulations. In 1961 he withdrew when Donald Smith announced his intention to run for mayor. Mr. McEwen was an unsuccessful candidate for election to the federal government on the Social Credit ticket in 1958. "I think I can do a lot for Victoria with my experience on city council," Mr. McEwen said.

Tried Twice Before

Cecil Parrott is a former school trustee who was employed by the city for 10 years as assistant building inspector. He is retired and can devote full time to duties of alderman. He tried unsuccessfully for a council seat on two previous occasions.

The Centennial Square development will improve the appearance and attractiveness of the downtown area, but Mr. Parrott warned that it is up to city council to strive constantly for renewal of rundown areas. "Other cities have learned planners cannot be disregarded indefinitely except at mountain cost," he said.

Robert Baird is an investment counsellor who has lived in Victoria since 1926. He served with the air force as an instructor during the war and is now a member of Toastmasters International and St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society.

He wants immediate action on the question of adequate bus transportation so that the full burden will not be thrown on the taxpayers when the franchise expires in 1967. He believes council is building high-rise apartments in "willy-nilly" fashion and wants council meetings patterned after a board of directors meeting.

Victor Williams, a company director, has also tried and failed to win a city council seat in the past. He was born and educated in England, served in the Royal Marines, and has experience of both radio and newspaper work. He is president of Victoria Welsh Society and an instructor at the boys' club.

Square Endorsed

He endorses the Centennial Square project and advocates more control of the police commission by city council. Senior citizens should get free passes on B.C. Hydro buses, he says, and he wants completion of Blanshard Street extension, more comfort stations, and a "complaint office" manned by aldermen at city hall.

Mrs. Elizabeth Maunsell has been a member of Greater Victoria school board for 10 years. She is seeking a sixth term as trustee because she feels her experience will help in the board's constant struggle to keep abreast of mushrooming enrolments.

Ralph Fryer, a commercial photographer, is married to a teacher and has one daughter in school. He is seeking a second term as trustee. He wants a royal commission on educational finance and thinks the load of taxation can be lifted from property owners by adding another 2 per cent tax to liquor, tobacco and horse racing. H. Lloyd Clarkson, a petty officer based at HMCS Naden shore installation, is the only newcomer to civic politics. He was a member of the Victoria school board, and believes that school trustees have an obligation to provide the public with more information.

Firemen's Efficiency Cuts North Cedar's Rates

NANAIMO—Fire chief Bob Osborne Monday told the North Cedar Ratepayers' Association the district will get a reduction in fire insurance rates because the efficiency of the fire department was honored by the fire insurance underwriters.

Deadline for the use of the Cedar firehall by the fire marshals' office has been set for Jan. 18.

It was decided at the meeting to abandon the building and go ahead with the planning of a small concrete firehall to house fire truck and equipment and a ready-room for the volunteer firemen.

Milk Board's Order Threat in Alberni

ALBERNI—More than one of the few remaining milk producers in this area will be put out of business if an order by the B.C. Milk Board is not rescinded.

This is the opinion of dairy farmers here protesting the ruling which would interfere with the formula set up to protect the producers.

Local shippers, up in arms over the order which permits milk distributors to pay less to producers by establishing a maximum premium between Class 1 (fluid) and Class 3 (powdered) milk, say it will cost them up to 30 cents a can at a time when prices and wages are rising.

SAME AS PAY CUT

"This cut in the producers' take-home pay is exactly the same as if wages were cut by 25 cents an hour at a local mill. The interference with the formula is equivalent to an employer in industry breaking an agreement," says a statement by seven producers.

"It's the most serious thing that ever happened in the dairy industry, not only because we are working on such a small margin that we cannot afford the loss, but because it is setting a precedent for future action," it said.

FLUID MILK PRICE

Price to the Vancouver Island farmer for fluid milk this month is $5.91 per 100-lb can.

No retail price restrictions are placed on the dairies under the Milk Industry Act, and local producers are of the opinion that distributing dairies, if unable to operate under present conditions, should raise the retail price.

Commission Plans New Report

NANAIMO — The Civic Properties and Recreation Commission will prepare an illustrated annual report, showing the work done as well as its cost. This is an experimental decision, estimated at about $100.

The Exhibition Park buildings will get green maintenance paint coats. Consultations have been arranged with consulting engineer F. Gardner of Victoria, on the arena heating, and city engineer Art Laynard, about the proposed skate shop expansion.

ROOFING TENDERS

Tenders, due Dec. 18, have been called for roofing part of the Civic Arena.

Commissioner Harry Whipple, appointed to enquire into the possibilities of a long-term lease of Exhibition Park property by the Cedar Riding Club, reported that, under the Municipal Act, the commission was not in a position to enter into a lease with the club but could only make yearly agreements.

To Those Who Wait... You're Not Forgotten

By Ted Shackleford

MESSAGE: It may seem a little early for a Christmas message but we found this one in the December edition of a pocket-sized publication named Transition:

"The spirit of Christmas is not confined. It is heard in the sounds of carols and laughter. It is a season of giving and of hope. It is the one time of year that mankind reflects the spirit that, were he to carry it with him each and every day, would truly make of this earth a paradise.

"And, because it is Christmas, it is a day that many of us remember. There are people we would be with and events that would be shared. It is a time of families and for children. It is Christmas.

"To those who wait: to those who hold the lonely vigil on this special day; to the wives and children, families, friends and all who are not forgotten. To all of you may this Christmas have some special meaning and hope for the coming year."

Inside the front cover of Transition is this note which tells the whole story:

"Transition is... published... by and for the inmates of the British Columbia Penitentiary, New Westminster, B.C., under authority of the Commissioner of Penitentiaries, Ottawa.

"Transition is provided as a means of expression and communication for the inmates."

BROKEN RULE: Occasionally, in one of the Greater Victoria police courts a bench falls over a prisoner. As the bench falls over the charge—attempted suicide. Normally, for obvious reasons, news-

NANAIMO—The provincial government announced Tuesday it will set up a regional diagnostic clinic under the mental health service branch here in January.

The clinic will be established in the new Nanaimo Regional Hospital. Recreation Minister Earle Westwood said, "I feel the city should retain the area around the new regional hospital for future expansion purposes for hospital and other health care."

A psychiatrist, a psychologist, a social worker, a health worker and other personnel will be employed at the clinic, which will provide a consultative diagnostic service to physicians and agencies of the Nanaimo and the central Island area.

With these services available in Nanaimo, patients may be treated for mental illness in their own communities. It will help to re-establish many people in less time.

United Church Opened

PORT ALBERNI — Residents of the Alberni, including representatives of other congregations, filled the new First United Church Sunday for the opening ceremony and took part in the litany of dedication in the sanctuary.

The choir sang a hymn as the service opened. Rev. Narn Hughes, president of the B.C. conference, presided at the door of the sanctuary which was opened by Norman Odgers, chairman of stewards, in a symbolic ceremony before the keys were passed.

First sermon was given by Rev. W. S. Taylor, principal of Union College at UBC.

Rev. H. M. Wingfield, chairman of Comox-Nanaimo presbytery, led prayers during the service.

Lower Island Trio Charged After Fight

COURTENAY—Two Victoria youths and a Duncan juvenile are among six charged with creating a disturbance by fighting after an incident in which two men received knife wounds.

Charged are Lloyd Douglas Kennedy and Edward Charles Lumsley, of Victoria; a 17-year-old Duncan juvenile; and Harvey R. Brown, William D.

McLeod and Arne Anderson, who suffered three stab wounds.

Michael Carvey is in hospital with six wounds in his back and three to the hand and arm.

All those charged were remanded to Dec. 17 without plea and released on bail. Brown's not guilty plea was accepted.

Cause of the fight is still under investigation.

Million Dollar Centre Planned

By JACK FRY

Plans for development of a $1,000,000 hotel, recreation and convention centre on a 67-acre parcel south of Beaver Lake were outlined yesterday by city lawyer Foster Isherwood.

A public hearing on Mr. Isherwood's application for rezoning of the property will be held at the Saanich municipal hall at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

ON HIGHWAY

The land is adjacent to the southern boundary of city-owned Beaver Lake property, and has 1,700 feet of frontage on the Patricia Bay Highway.

Representative of a large American hotel-motel group will visit Victoria early next year to consider the possibility of building a 100-to-200 room hotel with large convention hall, said the lawyer.

LARGEST CENTRE

Development of the rolling farm land into the area's largest tourist and convention centre, through dealings with American promoters, will be backed by Foster Isherwood, his brothers Joseph, George and John, and the Isherwood estate.

It will not be the family's first venture into the hotel business. The late Thomas Isherwood, father of the four brothers, along with an uncle of theirs, converted the old Hibben-Bone office building into the Churchill Hotel, 1140 Government, in 1940.

DEVELOPED IN DEPTH
"We bought the property, keeping in mind that it can be developed in depth... maybe along the lines of a Harrison Hot Springs close to town, with a good view of the Olympics and room enough for horseback riding on bridle paths," said Mr. Isherwood.

The brothers filed their application early this year for rezoning of a small portion of the parcel from agricultural to tourist and recreational use, but later indicated a willingness to rezone the whole parcel in accordance with a recommendation of the Saanich advisory planning commission.

The Real Antarctica

Master Key To History Of World

By RON FOULTON

Third of a Series

McMURDO STATION. Antarctica—One early explorer called this continent "centuries of heaped up solitude."

To anyone who has seen it, it comes as no surprise that Scott was forced to ask, as he crossed the Beardmore Glacier:

"Could anything be more terrible than this silent, wind-swept immensity?"

4,000 Men

Explorers have dared it for 75 years. And this year the United States—one of seven countries in occupation—is assaulting it with 4,000 men, three dozen aircraft, eight ice breakers and a fleet of supply ships.

Man cannot leave it alone because this continent is at once the most intriguing, the most mysterious and, in some ways, the most beautiful on earth.

Once it seemed as inaccessible as the moon. Parts still are because its snows

Brunei Uprising Falling Apart

CP from AP-Reuters

LABUAN, Brunei—The commander of British land forces in the Far East said today the North Borneo revolt is collapsing before co-ordinated British attacks on the insurgents in Sarawak and Brunei.

Gen. Sir Nigel Poett said British troops took Lawas and Limbang in Sarawak, today and Kuala Belait in Brunei. These were centres of rebel strength in the revolt.

"The revolt is collapsing," said Poett. "We are confident that order will soon be maintained."

He said that in the fighting for Limbang, about 40 miles south of this North Borneo island, both sides suffered casualties. He gave no figures.

He said there was no fighting at Lawas, near Limbang. British troops are reported to have cleared most of Sarawak, the major oil centre 75 miles southwest of Lawas, but rebel use of nine Europeans as hostages slowed the British drive for full control.

The troops freed some 400 other Europeans who took refuge in their homes when the rebellion began five days ago.

Revolt Ended In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—Argentine leaders said Tuesday night a day-long air force revolt had been resolved and the situation in the country was "entirely normal."

Their statements followed a day of confusion in which at one time three men were reported claiming to be commander-in-chief of the air force.

Air Secretary Juan Carlos Pereyra said he intended to fly to Cordoba—"seat of revolutions"—where Brig. Cayo Alsinza set up a rebel air command after being dismissed from his post as air force chief.

"I believe the crisis has been overcome," Pereyra told reporters after a cabinet meeting.

Informal sources said that, in addition to Alsinza's dismissal, Brig. Gilberto Hidalgo Oliva, air force combat commander, had been relieved of his post and placed under arrest at Cordoba.

Unconfirmed reports said the two officers apparently were in contact with officers of other branches of the armed forces and nationalist civilians who wished to impose a dictatorship.

By TERRY HAMMOND

Premier Bennett yesterday announced a delayed-action Christmas present for B.C.'s 14,000 civil servants—higher pay.

The long-expected announcement came at a government luncheon held at the Empress Hotel in honor of 30 provincial employees with 25 years of service. (See Page 2.)

He told his suddenly-attentive audience, "It is not possible for the government at all times to properly recognize civil servants as far as monetary matters are concerned because we only deal with tax funds."

"But last year we made some changes and some increases."

'ONLY FAIR'

"It is only fair to say that in the next budget (Feb. 8) there will be some increases as well."

The premier later declined to tell reporters how much the increase will be, but said "it will be general and over-and-above the usual annual increments."

REQUIREMENT

Announcement of the increase came in the face of the B.C. Government Employees' Association request for 10 to 24 per cent raises and a civil service appeal board's recommendation that government match salaries with industry.

The premier's statement affecting provincial civil servants came a day after Ottawa's announcement that 65,000 federal employees will also get raises.

STEP ADDED

Last general increase for provincial workers came in 1959 and earlier this year all flat-rate employees got three to five per cent raises.

The salary group had a step added to the increment range but all except senior employees had to wait from one to six years to collect it.

Federal Boost In January

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal civil servants granted retroactive pay increases won't receive cheques in time to cash them for Christmas.

W. G. Drew, chief treasury officer at the central pay office, said Tuesday it will not be possible to give government employees their retroactive pay until the end of January.

New Sticks At Gordon

MONTREAL (CP)—More than 700 students demonstrated in downtown Montreal late Tuesday protesting testimony by CNR president Donald Gordon to the Commonsense railway committee, while a delegation of students met Mr. Gordon for an hour and 15 minutes. (See Page 7.)

Police arrested at least three demonstrators as they tossed rocks, snow and sticks at some 50 constables guarding the front entrance of the Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

Mr. Gordon said he had explained to the delegation the CNR system of recruiting and promotion of its officers.

Bonner Tells Secreds

B.C. Labor Laws 'Restored Balance'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Attorney-general Bonner said Tuesday Social Credit government labor legislation was aimed at restoring a balance between labor and management. (See stories on Page 5.)

He told a campaign meeting in support of Mrs. Eve Burne-Miller, Social Credit candidate in the Point Grey by-election, he found it hard to understand why the Conservatives and Liberals should line up with NDP in promising to repeal the legislation.

WEIGHT UNEVEN

Mr. Bonner said the relative weight of management and labor at the bargaining table and in the streets where strikes are conducted became uneven. The province had witnessed development of wildcat strikes, information pickets and a great variety of disputes.

Polaris No! Says Paisley

PAISLEY, Scotland (Reuters)—The town council of Paisley, 30 miles from the United States Polaris missile base here, voted Tuesday night to ask the British government to have the base removed from the Holy Loch. The vote was 12 to 8.

Bin Bursts

ELMONT, Kan. (AP)—A large metal grain storage bin at Elmont burst in frigid weather Tuesday, spilling 900,000 bushels of wheat, worth $2,025,000, on the ground.

Formosa Propaganda Blamed

EDMONTON (CP)—Agriculture Minister Hamilton says a propaganda attack, originating on the island of Formosa, is being waged against the Canadian government for selling wheat to Communist China.

Mr. Hamilton told the Farmers Union of Alberta convention Monday that the anti-wheat sale propaganda meets him everywhere he goes.

In Ottawa, the embassy of Nationalist China Tuesday denied Mr. Hamilton's charge.

Mr. Hamilton made the comment after he was asked why Canada sells wheat to the Communists while people are starving in India and South America.

The minister said the question was comparable to the usual propaganda he encountered.

He said opposition to the Communist China wheat sales is extremely well organized and its effect is being felt across Canada.

Mr. Hamilton said wheat sales to Communist China do more good than harm.

Helpers of All Kinds Meet Christmas Need

Penny drives, piggy banks, employees' funds and "Secret Helpers" have all gotten behind The Daily Colonist's 36th Christmas Fund drive.

At Victoria High, girl students accepted a challenge from the boys, then defeated them handily in a 10-day penny drive that saw lines of money winding through the halls.

A total of $124 in pennies was held out, plus, for one extra of tape, different colors showing that the girls were usually ahead.

Their two-to-one victory made the score in 500 Fund penny drives even.

Earlier, a Victoria University, the co-eds lost and became "slaves" to male students for one day.

These letters came in the mail yesterday:

"This money is from the piggy banks of Karen, Bruce, Wendy and Irving... with love to anyone who needs it."

"This cheque is donated by a group of little girls who call themselves 'The Secret Helpers Society.' Could you please enter their donation in that name?"

"Although the (Victoria Machinery Depot) employees were fortunate in being the first contributors to the 1962

Donations to the 36th Fund may be brought or mailed to The Daily Colonist at 360 Douglas or left at Association of Victoria, 100 Yates, during business hours. Donors should specify if they wish to be anonymous. Receipts for income tax purposes will be supplied or request.

Colonist 500 Fund, they wish to add a further donation of $100, for which a cheque is enclosed.

"They asked me to extend to the Colonist and the administrators of the fund their sincere good wishes for the success of this very worthwhile operation."

Christmas is now just a few days away.

Just bring it around, all the money collected by the 500 Fund will be divided into 500 equal cheques. A cheque will go to each of 500 Victoria households that can best use something "extra" to make the holiday slightly happier.

The very fine people who write and donate to the fund have not forgotten what this "extra" will mean to these unfortunate families.
